

Allies Pleased Over Rumania's Oil Sale Stand

Given Assurance Nation
Won't Discriminate in Favor of Germany

London.—The tug-of-war between the allies and Germany over Rumanian oil for the machines of war has been resolved to the satisfaction of Great Britain and France, an informed source indicated today.

Allied satisfaction was said to spring from assurance that Rumania would not discriminate in favor of Germany in supplying this vital war resource.

It was reported that Rumania told Britain she would allot Germany 1,500,000 tons of oil this year, but that transportation difficulties probably would hamper delivery, just as they prevented delivery of some of the 1,500,000 tons assigned to Germany in 1939.

Vicent Vural, Rumanian minister to London, handed to Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax yesterday the Rumanian reply to Britain's expression of concern over the new Rumanian oil control board, which bosses production, including that of British and French-owned properties.

Note Not Published
The note was not made public, but authoritative sources said a mutually satisfactory discussion was held and gave the impression that the reply removed fears that Germany might be favored.

Some newspapers jubilantly announced that the effect of the Rumanian regulations would be a decrease in the amount of oil sent to Germany, but Reuters, British news agency, said that such interpretations were "a trifle premature" and that "the government's estimate of the new position has not yet been defined."

Establishment of the control board had raised such doubts in London that officials reconsidered the whole question of British and Rumanian trade, giving rise to published assertions that Britain secretly had stopped all exports to Rumania pending a satisfactory settlement.

In another stab at British shipping and air defenses, German bombers raged along the east coast yesterday.

Damage inflicted by the German airmen on ships still was unreported by the British today, but in Berlin DNB, official German news agency, announced the day's operations included the sinking of two British minelayers and one armed merchant ship.

GENERAL WEATHER
The storm which was central yesterday morning off the New England coast has now moved out over the Atlantic ocean and has been attended by light rain or snow during the last 24 hours over the central and eastern portions of the country.

Light snow also fell over the northern plains states and northern Rocky mountains, but generally fair weather prevailed this morning over the central and southern plains states and from the Rocky mountains westward.

It is now slightly colder over all the central and eastern portions of the country, but temperatures are rising over the northern Rocky mountains.

Light snow is expected in this section during the next 24 hours, with little change in temperature.

State Now in 18th Place
In Rural Electrification

Washington.—The rural electrification administration reported today that Wisconsin had moved from seventeenth to eighteenth position in the nation in rural electrification since the REA began operation.

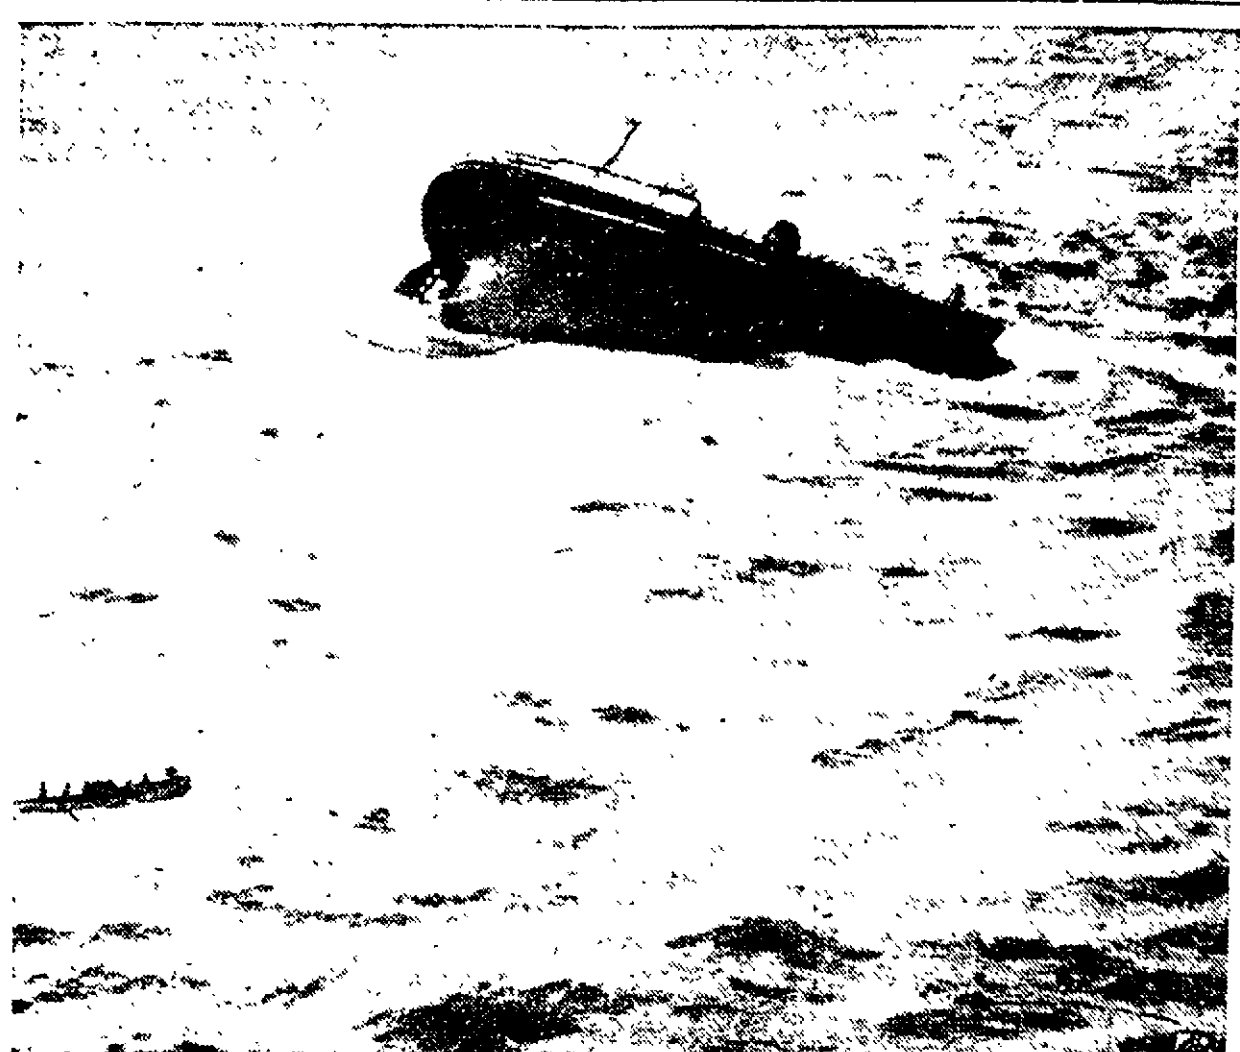

Summarizing the administration's activities in Wisconsin, the REA said that by Sept. 1, 1939, total allotment of $19,016,290 were making possible construction of 10,000 miles of line to bring power within reach of 100,000 farms.

Writing and plumbing lines to more than 225,000 of this total allotment to 28 Wisconsin cooperatives and one municipal utility.

In December, 1939, before the REA program started $9,906, or 50.4 percent of the states' share, but by last Feb. 28, 1940, 72,700 farms had been electrified, an increase of 63.6 percent.

The administration predicted that the Tri State Power Cooperative plant at Genoa, Wis., when completed would have the largest capacity of any power plant for which the REA has lent funds.

Serve 15,000 Farms
As planned, it will have an ultimate capacity of 9,000 to 12,000 kilowatts and supply 12 or more cooperatives in Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Iowa over about 300 miles of transmission lines, the REA said.

Increasing Raids, Patrol Clashes on Western Front Indicate Renewed Tension

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

New York.—Increasing raids and patrol clashes have been marking activities in the western theater of war in France, indicating both nervous tension and a significant curiosity about the other fellow's affairs.

They are harbingers of the not far distant spring and fighting weather. The combatants are starting early to get set for grim eventualities.

These miniature battles generally are dismissed in the official communiqués with a flip of the hand, if indeed they are mentioned at all. Comparatively speaking they are insignificant.

Yet raids are of great importance, frequently spelling the difference between victory and defeat in a major engagement. They are the blood-tests which enable the doctor to diagnose the case in hand.

Raids have various purposes but ordinarily are conducted with the object of learning disposition of enemy forces or surveying positions.

Dispositions often disclose not only strength but intentions. Thus raids are the vital forerunners of either offensive or defensive operations.

Something to Help Democracy—Dykstra

Minneapolis.—(P)—Democracy, "blackened out" in dozens of nations, can survive in the United States if citizens quit giving lip service to its ideals and instead give themselves to developing a program and an organization adapted to present day needs. Dr. C. A. Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin, said last night.

Dr. Dykstra, speaking to a regional citizenship conference, said: "The problem (can democracy survive?) is deeper than the reorganization of political associations. It goes back into our economic structure and demands a reconciliation between tradition and modern science. Democracy can operate as if we can reorganize technological change and accept individual responsibility for the success of popular government."

Urging that education of youth for citizenship be given greater impetus, he declared "we have not yet made a significant thing of this aim."

Driver's Licenses
Should be Up to Date

Madison.—(P)—Commissioner George W. Rickman of the state motor vehicle department announced today a campaign to bring automobile driver's license records up to date.

He urged all license holders who have changed their residence since obtaining the permits to print the new address legibly on their cards and notify the department immediately of the change.

Rickman said he hoped the public would comply voluntarily, but pointed out that a penalty for failure to do so could be imposed under provisions of the licensing law passed by the 1927 legislature.

Application also should be made, he added, for duplicates of cards which have been lost or badly mutilated.

Golfers on Snowshoes
At Park Falls Course

Park Falls.—(P)—They're playing golf on white "greens" here in Park Falls, which more than once this winter has reported the official low temperature in the United States.

Out to show the world that they can make it, Park Falls golf addicts and their caddies bundle up warmly and travel around the snow-blanketed Park Falls golf course on skis and snowshoes. The little white pellet—the more discolored the better, in this case—journeys from one inflated inner tube "hole" to the next.

As demonstrated by Tom McCall, one of the ardent winter golfers, the technique for getting out of a snowbank is much the same as the one for getting out of a sand trap.

Milwaukee.—(P)—Raymond Moley, former adviser to President Roosevelt, believes "it is ridiculous to keep asking the president if he is going to run for a third term."

"That is not for him to answer," Moley told an audience at the City club last night. "That is for us, the people, to answer."

"The question is not what he wants or needs, but what we want and need. Mr. Roosevelt himself said in 1932 that 'no man is indispensable.'"

Moley said he believed that Thomas Dewey and Senators Vandenberg and Taft, all Republican candidates for nomination, would make good presidents.

Taft-Vandenberg Coalition Seen to Forestall Dewey

Wisconsin Primary on April 2 Gets Attention of Candidates

Washington.—(P)—An informal coalition of Taft and Vandenberg forces was reported today to be trying to keep Thomas E. Dewey from getting a head start for the Republican presidential nomination in the Wisconsin primary April 2.

Although Senator Taft of Ohio announced last Saturday that he would not enter the Wisconsin contest, first major pre-convention battle, friends said there was good reason to believe he would give quiet support to Senator Vandenberg of Michigan.

The theory, they explained, is that Vandenberg appears to have a better chance to beat Dewey in Wisconsin. Taft's father, the late William Howard Taft, fought the elder LaFollette, and hence his backers entertained little hope of support from the LaFollette progressives.

The Democratic picture, meanwhile, continued to place the third-term question in the foreground. Oscar Ewing, eastern campaign manager for Paul V. McNutt, said that President Roosevelt would be "almost the unanimous choice of the Democratic convention for a third term if he does not take himself out of the running."

Ewing, a New York attorney, explained that the strategy of McNutt's campaign is to line up second-choice delegates who would favor McNutt if the president eliminated himself.

He made the statement here amid varied Democratic predictions that Mr. Roosevelt would state his views shortly before the July 15 convention or wait until the delegates had acted. Two members of the party, who preferred anonymity, said they would not be surprised to see the president let the convention nominate him, then dramatically turn it down.

Wild Life Exhibit Scheduled in May

The third annual Wild Life exhibit will be held May 17, 18 and 19 at the Piore park pavilion, it was decided at a meeting of the exhibit committee last night at the Y. M. C. A.

The exhibit this year will be sponsored by the Outagamie Conservation club with E. M. Foor as general chairman. The event formerly was sponsored by the local unit of the Izaak Walton League.

Committees, appointed last night to aid Foor in planning the exhibit are: Grounds, Arthur Borsche, William Olson and Fred Rehfeldt; finance committee, Leonard Zehren, Michael King, Sylvester Vandenberg, and Herman Price; publicity, Hugo Dresely, Earl Tews and Emil Kramer; concessions, Leonard Zehren and Gordon Ratzman.

The exhibit is held annually principally for the benefit of school children in the county who are admitted free to see the animals, birds and fish, furnished by the state game farm at Poynette. Adults will be charged a small fee to help defray expenses.

The possibility of a county safety picture, similar to the film "When Traffic Moves" which was made in the city, appeared today with the announcement that the county safety council will discuss the matter at a meeting this evening in the office of John E. Hantsch, county clerk.

Captain Charles Steidl of the county highway police said that the council will talk over the project with R. L. Swanson, Wilson Junior High school instructor who has made two such films for the city, the first being "Handlebar Hazards."

New Kind of Printer's Ink
Must be Melted to Allow Use

BY HOWARD BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
New York.—A new kind of printer's ink, which is hard like lumps of coal, was described to the technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry today.

To print, the ink is melted, and it freezes as it touches the paper having the ordinary coolness of a room. Ink and type are kept hot by water almost boiling, circulating in contact with the fountain or "inkwell" and the type rollers of a printing press.

The new ink means higher speed and more clarity in printing. Regardless of type of paper, said Frank B. Breyer, New York chemical engineer, who made the report.

The lump ink reverses the generally used process of printing, by which fluid inks and cold type print on paper kept hot in order to dry quickly. Breyer said the new ink freezes so instantaneously on touching cool paper that there is no smearing of moist ink and no offset on the back of a printed sheet.

With the new ink, he declared, there is no limit to printing speed—except the speed limitations of the presser.

One of the difficulties of newspaper pictures has been the fineness of "screen"—that is, number of dots or lines per inch—which newspaper paper will take without blurring. The present average is 50 to 85 lines an inch. Breyer said the new ink permitted engravings of 133 lines, without "fill-in" blotting.

The way this freezing process operates was described as a "kiss." The ink freezes in a fairly deep film as type touches paper, but there seems to be a sharp line of demarcation between this hard film and the fluid ink on the type it has just come from. The type pulls all the unfrozen ink clear of the paper.

Scientists, Inventors
Are Honored at Dinner

Chicago.—(P)—A group of 59 middle west scientists and inventors who have made outstanding contributions to science and industry were honored at a dinner last night as "modern pioneers" on the American "frontier of industry."

The recipients of the awards—from Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Wisconsin—were selected from a group of 150 nominated from this area and from a group of 1,000 nominated throughout the United States.

The local dinner, one of a series of 15 inaugurated nationally by the National Association of Manufacturers, was sponsored by Armour Institute of Technology, the Illinois Manufacturers association and the Wisconsin Manufacturers association. The dinner also commemorated the 150th anniversary of the American patent system.

Among those awarded the "modern pioneer" scroll tonight were Leslie Clayburn, Walter Grist, Ray C. Newhouse, L. R. Smith, William Halver Taylor, Dr. William White, all of Milwaukee; William D. James, George T. Markey, John B. Olson, all of Fort Atkinson, Wis.; Harry Steenbock, Madison, Wis.; David P. Davies, Racine, Wis., and Sern Madsen, Clinton, Iowa.

Chinese Peasant Boy to be Made 14th Dalai Lama

Officials Rejoice Over
Their Choice of Candidate by Tibet

Chungking, China.—(P)—A plump, button-eyed, little peasant boy from China will be enthroned tomorrow at Lhasa as the fourteenth Dalai Lama, spiritual and temporal leader of Tibet, jubilant Chinese officials reported today.

Choice of the Chinese candidate without the traditional ceremony of drawing ivory or bamboo lots from a golden vase was described by the Chinese as strengthening the vague sovereignty which China long has held, but scarcely exercised, over Tibet.

The Chinese lad, Lingerh Lamu-tanchu — Lingerh the divine child, under the Tibetan theory of reincarnation—is said to have been born at the exact moment the thirteenth Dalai Lama died, Dec. 17, 1933.

So were his two rival Tibetan-born candidates, but Chinese officials said the regent Lama had accepted the proposal that these be designated "living Buddhas" and advisers to Lingerh.

Offers Evidence
In addition to political considerations, it was said the Lama who located Lingerh in his cave home near Tahrhshu, in Koko Nor province, gave evidence to authenticate the reincarnation.

When shown a number of personal objects, the boy stretched out his hands immediately and selected the chopsticks and other belongings of the late Dalai Lama, this agent reported.

The boy was taken to Lhasa last October. Some reports describe him as four or five years old, but to adhere to the reincarnation theory, he must have been six last Dec. 17.

For all his trappings of royalty, his red silk robes, the yellow satin hat atop his shaven pate, his residence in the white stone grandeur of the Potala, and the homage done him by the populace, young Lingerh will not become actual ruler of Tibet until he is 18.

Thus, for 12 years more, the mystic, mountainous land will be governed by the regent, Jeechen Hutuktu, considered "ardently pro-Chinese" by the Chinese.

Urges Liberalization Of Job Insurance Plans

Washington.—(P)—Arthur J. Altmyer, social security board chairman, declared today it was imperative that the states overhaul and liberalize their unemployment insurance systems.

Altmyer recommended that the waiting period for benefits be cut to one week, that payments be made for at least 16 weeks a year, and that states with large surplus insurance funds pay two-thirds of the weekly wage—at least $20.

He made public his views in the Social Security Bulletin, amplifying the board's stand outlined previously in its annual report to congress.

Now Spencer wants the court to declare the marriage null and void on the ground that he and his wife are first cousins and hence not legally entitled to marry each other.

Mrs. Spencer filed a formal answer to the suit, denying the blood relationship. Even if it were true, she added, the petition should be rejected because her husband was an active participant in violating the state marriage laws.

Atkinson denied the claim of an unidentified legislator whose annual salary as a law-maker was listed as $2,000. The unemployment compensation bureau head said yesterday legislators were ineligible for benefits because they were paid on an annual basis as general assembly members.

Job-Holders are Behind Movement For Third Term

Anxious to Perpetuate Themselves in Power, Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—An amazing thing in the history of American politics is happening, but as yet is stirring up relatively little indignation. A group of politicians in various states, anxious only to perpetuate themselves in power, are actually proposing that presidents of the United States hereafter shall be permitted to serve for as many terms as they desire.

The traditional and customary limitation that no president shall serve a third term is not written in the constitution, but if it is broken in 1940 it would seem a foregone conclusion that no such limitation ever will be written into the constitution because of the power of the executive in office hereafter to prevent through his control of congress any such resolution from being submitted by a two-thirds vote of the senate and house.

What the American people are being asked by a few selfish men to endorse is the idea that any president—not just Mr. Roosevelt—shall hereafter consider himself eligible for a third or even a fourth term.

The job-holders who want to keep their jobs are behind the third term movement.

In a few instances, there are radicals like Senator Norris of Nebraska who want Mr. Roosevelt reelected because they want certain policies maintained. They feel the third term precedent is less important or valuable than the maintenance of certain so-called "liberal" policies. But these same liberals are really sanctioning a precedent which can keep reactionary presidents in power some day just as readily as liberal presidents.

Liberals Change

What is most surprising is that the liberals who sponsored the anti-third term resolution in the senate in 1924 and who always have fought against any step that might remotely imply an interference with the rule of the people are now willing to let the third term precedent go by the boards.

This correspondent stated several months ago that if the Democratic party of its own accord wished to renominate the president, and if the country wished to reelect him, there could be no complaint that Democratic processes had not been preserved because Mr. Roosevelt was so much the main factor in the record of the New Deal that it was logical from a party standpoint to consider whether he should be the standard bearer again.

But it was also stated then that true liberalism had always fought against the illicit use of the presidential power to gain a nomination. This was the main reason for the Bull Moose split off from the Republican party in 1912 when Senator Hiram Johnson and Harold Ickes and other liberals denounced the use of the presidential power to gain a nomination.

There is evidence that in many states the officeholders are engaging in an indirect attempt to bring about the sending of delegates to the Democratic national convention who will be favorable to a third term for Mr. Roosevelt. In the case of Virginia, Tom Corcoran, one of the president's intimates, denies in a letter that he had participated in any way in such a movement and Martin A. Hutchinson, former chairman of the Democratic central committee who is supposed to have conferred with Mr. Corcoran denies that he did so. These denials must be accepted as fact in the absence of any proof to the contrary, but it is also significant that Mr. Hutchinson in his letters reveals the existence of third term sentiment in Virginia which is, of course, not surprising because of the public speeches of prominent New Dealers.

The same thing is revealed in other states where Mr. Corcoran's name is mentioned, too, as in Iowa, for instance, but even if Mr. Corcoran is not heading up the third term activity everywhere there can be no doubt that cabinet officers by their public addresses are lending encouragement to it and that Democratic state central committees here and there are springing up to arrange for the selection of delegates favorable to a third term.

These political committees evidently feel no responsibility for the precedent they are creating. They apparently take the position that it is more important to put a good

Aldermen Defer Action on Salary Schedule for 1940

Council to Hear Police, Fire Commission Recommendation Feb. 27

Kaukauna—Passage of a 1940 salary ordinance was deferred to Feb. 27, at which time the fire and police commission is to bring in a definite recommendation with regard to the salaries of firemen and policemen, as the common council met last night.

Alderman T. L. Seggelink, finance committee chairman, to whom the commission's report on restoration of a 1932 pay cut had been referred, compared Kaukauna salaries with those of other cities. Seggelink said he had written to ten cities, the population of 8 of which averaged 32 per cent greater than Kaukauna, and that only two paid their police patrolmen more than Kaukauna, none pay their chief much more and only have an assistant chief. The average patrolman's salary for the 10 cities, Seggelink said, is $1,471, compared to $1,533 here; the average fireman's salary $1,471 compared to $1,525 here.

Wants Commission Action
"Were you to bring the salary for our fire department up to the average of these cities it would cost $486 a year more. Were you to bring the salary of our police department to the average of these cities it would cost $504 less than now. The council cannot do this without the recommendation of our fire and police commission."

"Back in 1932 our policemen's salary was 5 per cent more than it is today, but at that time they were required to be on duty 50 per cent more hours a day for 365 days a year, whereas for the past 3 years they are only required to be on duty 305 8-hour days a year, a total of 2,440 hours compared to 4,203 in 1932. Two men have been added to the police department. The firemen's pay also is 5 per cent less than it was in 1932 and they are still on duty 4,200 hours a year. No men have been added to the department. Our policemen average 44 per cent more than the average pay in other cities and our firemen average 31 per cent less."

"As this is a very important matter... might it not be worth while that we hold this over to night, lay the facts before the fire and police commission, get their recommendation or permission to exercise the council's judgment in this matter, meet again next week and act thereon?"

Objects to Delay
Alderman Edward Seidel objected to Seggelink's motion to lay the matter over, saying it had been put off long enough, and Alderman Otto Ludke and George Luebke supported Seggelink. Alder said the fire and police commission was "passing the buck" by avoiding clear cut recommendations.

Before the council voted to lay the matter over, Loyal Schmalz, representing the Kaukauna Central Labor union, said its members had voted unanimously to support the firemen's petition.

Donald Hofstetter, 175 W. Wisconsin avenue, was granted a liquor license, subject to the approval of the health and police departments. Anton Servaes reminded the aldermen he had filed his application for the first vacancy. It was brought out that Hofstetter is purchasing the tavern of Arnold Vanderloop; hence there is no question of a vacancy but merely of transfer of ownership. Alderman Otto Ludke moved that Servaes also be granted a license, but his motion received no second. Under state law Kaukauna is limited to 27 licenses, and a grant to Servaes would have been the twenty-eighth.

The board of public works reported the city engineer had been asked to prepare estimates on paving Island, Desnoyer and part of Tenth street. The council approved an ordinance naming the recently completed paving from Wisconsin avenue to Thilmany's lower mill Thilmany road. A request of Charles Vanevenhoven for $1,000 damages to his property was referred to the city attorney. Vanevenhoven made a similar request last fall.

Bartz Is Speaker At American Legion Auxiliary Meeting

Clintonville—"Americanism" was the program topic for the February meeting of the American Legion auxiliary Monday evening at the Knights of Columbus hall. Melvin Bartz of the high school faculty gave a talk on that subject. Several vocal selections were contributed by a high school girls' chorus, directed by Miss Edith Gray. A large number of members and visitors were present, this being "guest night."

During the business session the auxiliary voted to buy a volley ball and net for the American Legion auxiliary Scout troop of this city. There was a discussion of the sponsorship of an essay contest for high school students on the subject of Americanism. Mrs. W. T. Luedke was appointed chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the contest.

The auxiliary unit voted to send gifts of pajamas to the Veterans Home at Waupaca and will also begin work on rag rugs to be sent to the state veterans' hospital at Wood Wis.

The evening closed with the serving of a lunch by Mrs. W. T. Luedke, Mrs. J. L. Tilleson, Mrs. M. J. Kamla, Mrs. M. O. Stockland, and Mrs. A. A. Washburn.

Officers of the Clintonville Fish and Game Protective association and their wives held their February meeting Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. LaViolette on Eighth street. A covered-dish supper was followed by a brief business session. The club officers decided to again order 500 dry-old pheasant chicks from the state conservation department to be reared and released by the local club. The birds are received about the middle of May. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing cards.

Claim Unpledged Group Is Committed to Taft

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—Some of the Vandenberg and Dewey adherents are saying in Washington that the Wisconsin unpledged delegation is secretly committed to Senator Robert A. Taft, Republican presidential candidate of Ohio.

It is reported that Taft gave his assurance that he would advocate no personal platform and would rely on organization men in the party. He is said to have promised, too, that, if elected, he would accept the recognition only of his "backers."

Taft was advised, it is further stated, that, with Vandenberg and Dewey already in the open field, politically, in Wisconsin, his chances in the state would be better if he relied upon the "unpledged" delegation.

Accident Victim to be Buried in Milwaukee

Clintonville—Funeral services for Mrs. Pearl Russell, 52, of Embarras will be conducted at 10 o'clock Friday morning at the Heuer chapel by the Rev. Walter E. Schilling, pastor of the Congregational church. Burial will take place in Forest Home cemetery, Milwaukee, beside the body of her late husband, Ray Russell. Burers will be A. B. Roberts, William Bernhagen, William Stueck, Bert Palmer, John Ever and Mike Heiler.

Mrs. Russell was killed instantly in an automobile accident Sunday evening near Evanston, Ill. She was returning home with a party of friends from a three weeks vacation trip through the southern states and Mexico.

Pearl Olmsted was born March 28, 1887, at Embarras and spent her early life there. After her marriage she lived in Milwaukee for a number of years. Following the death of her husband, she returned to Embarras to care for her aged mother, Mrs. John Olmsted, who died two months ago at the age of 87. Mrs. Russell's only survivor is a brother, Clayton Olmsted, of Rumley, Mich.

Fred Gansen Is Chosen Head of Gateway Chapter

Committees Named for Coming Year at Clintonville Meeting

Clintonville—Fred Gansen was elected president of Gateway chapter of the National Aeronautic association at a directors' meeting Monday evening at the Dairyman's State bank. Others elected were: James Smiley, vice president; Bernard Stice, secretary, and Max Stieglitz, treasurer. Mr. Gansen filled the unexpired term of the N. A. A. president, Stanley Warner, who moved to Wausau last fall.

Committees appointed for the ensuing year are: Program—P. V. Chaffee, chairman, James Smiley, Earl Moldenhauer, Lowell Schefelker, Clarence Piehl, Clintonville, and Margaret Meyer, Shawano; junior activities—Milton Couden, chairman, A. H. Otto, John Tandy, T. A. Patterson and Reuben Lendved; membership—Clarence Piehl, chairman, Bernard Stieglitz, Leo Polzin, Jr., William Melzer, Jr., Clintonville, and Kurt Gaida, Shawano.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dickens have left for Los Angeles, Calif., to make their home. Mr. Dickens recently sold his tavern in this city.

Mrs. O. J. Tilleson is spending the winter months in Oshkosh with her daughter, Miss Esther Tilleson, a teacher.

A daughter was born Feb. 11 to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hall of Lena, former residents of this city. Mrs. Hall is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Hall.

China Topic At Meeting
Mrs. Robert Koehler talked to members of the Junior Woman's club on the life of Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, well known Chinese leader, Monday evening at a regular meeting of the club at Hotel Marston. The Rev. Walter E. Schilling gave a talk on China, where his son, the late Lawrence Schilling, spent several years teaching in a mission school.

The Junior club accepted an invitation from the Clintonville Woman's club to join in observing the golden jubilee of the state federation of women's clubs at the library clubroom on Monday evening Feb. 26. The senior club is arranging a special program for the event.

There was a discussion of matters pertaining to the benefit movie which the junior club will sponsor at the Times theater late in March. The pictures which have been secured is "The Great Victor Herbert."

Following the program and business meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. James Kuester, Mrs. Orval Maluag and Miss Mildred Olsen.

The rural fire department was summoned at 9:30 Monday evening to the William Heidtke farm in the town of Matteson, where a chimney fire was in progress. No damage resulted.

The Friendship Circle of the Methodist Ladies Aid society will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Lockwood on Motor street. Mrs. Edward Wilke will be the assisting hostess.

Movieland Its People and Products

By Jimmie Fidler

Flying East — Across this sky-sleeper's aisle from me is a bank executive, returning to NY after a month's loll in Hollywood. Poor fellow, he made the mistake of asking questions in Hollywood and succeeded in learning the rudiments of studio administration. As a result, he doesn't need to board a plane to be "up in the air."

Having found out that I'm "connected with pictures," he's spent the time re-telling stories of financial waste that he picked up in Hollywood—how this producer spent $200,000 on a movie, belatedly decided to change his story, and calmly threw the film all ready shot into the ash can... how another producer has kept a multi-thousand-dollar-a-week star on the payroll for more than a year without giving her a single role... how a third has haphazardly invested millions in stories and kept them on the shelf to gather dust.

After each instance cited, my banker friend cracks his tongue, judiciously, and says: "Why, if I ran my business the way your movie producers run theirs, I'd be bankrupt in 30 days!"

In winding up his comments on Hollywood prodigality, I think he couldn't believe my ears when I heard movie people complaining about business conditions. Imagine when they can throw away millions and still come out ahead! Give me conditions like those—and I'd feel like Midas!

The more I think about it, the more I think he's right. Hollywood's possibilities for profit can be doubled anytime Hollywood lowers its sights, stops moaning and starts taking up the slack.

Dane County May Challenge Risser Civil Service Law

Considers Action After Court Order Directing Referendum

Madison — (AP) — The Dane county board's judiciary committee was considering today the alternatives of challenging the constitutionality of the Risser civil service law or arranging for a referendum on the question of placing county employees under civil service.

The law, sponsored by Senator Fred Risser (Prog.), of Madison, provides that, upon petition of more than 15 per cent of the county electorate, the county board must either pass an ordinance placing all employees under civil service or else submit the question to a referendum. It was passed at the 1939 session.

An order from Circuit Judge Alvin C. Reis, directing the board to submit the civil service matter to a referendum or show cause March 9 why it refuses to do so, was served yesterday on Frank A. Stewart, board chairman.

District Attorney Norris E. Maloney advised the board to refer the matter to its judiciary committee.

Relying on an attorney general's opinion, holding the law unconstitutional, the board last fall refused to order a referendum although a petition containing the required number of signatures was filed.

Risser, an attorney, obtained the order to show cause from Judge Reis on behalf of Marjorie L. Marshall, of Madison, president of the Wisconsin Council on Civil Service.

University Educator Says 'Bribes' Cause Cheating in Schools

Evansville, Ill. — (AP) — Americans were cautioned today by a university educator to stop "bribing" their children to win high scholastic ratings.

The advice came from Dr. Whit Brogan, professor of education at Northwestern university, who reported he had found that the practice of parents in giving nickels, dimes, bicycles, premiums of vacations and other "minor bribes" was one of the "greatest single causes of cheating in schools."

Dr. Brogan said an investigation of a school with 500 pupils disclosed that 200 of them had some sort of reward or punishment system, varying from the threat to stop an allowance for low grades to a complicated system whereby the youngster received a camping trip if he made a certain average or was sent to summer school if he didn't.

"The grading system as normally set up in our schools," Dr. Brogan said, "discourages those children who need encouragement, and encourages those who would learn easily anyway. Giving a nickel or a dime or a new bicycle for bringing home good grades, accentuates this evil."

"The practice of giving rewards makes grades the reason and purpose of learning instead of emphasizing the learning itself. In my experience systems of punishment and reward for grades have been the greatest single cause for cheating in school."

Car Stolen Yesterday Recovered by Police

Appleton police this morning recovered a car reported to have been stolen yesterday afternoon from its parking place behind the Montgomery Ward and Company store.

The car, owned by B. C. Wilson, 819 E. Hancock street, was found in the Y. M. C. A. parking lot. Wilson said it had been driven "about 150 miles."

DEMON FIRE

Winchester, Ky. — (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. John Hackett and their four children slept soundly while fire slowly ate its way across the roof of their home.

Outside, neighbors turned in a fire alarm and sought to awaken the family by shouting to them inside, "Tuckers," a bull terrier, was heard barking loudly.

Finally, the dog dashed upstairs, jumped on the bed of one of the children, and began scratching her face with his paws.

The girl quickly awakened other members of the family and all escaped without injury just before the roof caved in.

Lenten Thought For Today

Wednesday, Feb. 21. But the water I shall give him shall be to him a well of water springing up — (welling up—Moffatt) to eternal life. Read John 4:7-14.

There are endless interpretations of this most familiar passage but surely it teaches this: that we may be sponges or springs. If we make life self-centered and demanding, all its currents in-drawing instead of out-giving, nothing is enough to satisfy us. A very wise little book long ago said that man's setting up a claim for his "I and me and mine" was his going astray and his fall. It still keeps him down.

Greedy, grasping, endless asking soaks up everything and leaves only thirst. The loving and self-forgetful reverse all this. In enriching others, they enrich themselves, and such gracious spirits become wells of water welling up into eternal life. This was the secret of Jesus. He waits still where thirst and need go unsatisfied to share it with the seeking.

Prayer: O, Thou Who has made our thirst a revelation of our possibilities, teach us so to thirst for love, for goodness and truth that in the answer to such longings we may find our true well-being and in our sharing of the spirit of Him Who came to minister and not to be ministered unto, discover the springs of strength and peace. Amen.

Suspect Quizzed In 'Art Gallery' Mystery, in N. Y.

Detectives Trying to Connect News Dealer With Attempted Murder

New York — (AP) — The shuffling figure of John "Red" Poggi, 42, a financial district pug-nose newsie, appeared in the police lineup today as detectives sought to connect him with a baffling case of suicide and attempted murder which they have dubbed the "art gallery mystery."

"I never saw the man before in my life," Poggi declared, referring to the art gallery executive whose skull he was accused of having cracked.

Poggi shuffled into the New Dorp, Staten Island, police station yesterday after a vain 48-hour search for him and mildly inquired if he was "wanted."

He was booked on a charge of felonious assault.

A few hours later, in a Manhattan hospital Poggi was identified by Milton B. Logan, former president of the world-famous American Art association-Anderson Galleries, Inc., as the man who slugged him with a foot-long piece of lead pipe, wrapped in adhesive tape, during a wild ride Monday night through east side New York streets.

One Kills Self

With Logan on the ride was his former associate, John T. Geery, secretary-treasurer of the art galleries, who, three hours later—after meeting his wife at the Waldorf-Astoria with a bleeding face and battered skull—shot himself to death in the basement of his luxurious home at Garden City, Long Island.

Logan's story, mumbled as he lay in a hospital bed in a critical condition from a fractured skull, was that he met Geery at 5:45 p. m. Monday, near the financial district news-stand operated by Poggi, and that Geery introduced the barrel-chested newsie as "a friend."

It was raining, Logan said, and Poggi offered to drive the two art dealers uptown but demurred at taking the wheel himself, saying he didn't like to drive on slippery streets.

Geery volunteered to drive, while Logan sat beside him. He said that Poggi hunched in the back seat.

Struck From Behind

"We were driving on the East River drive," Logan told police, "when I was struck from behind—a terrific blow."

"I turned and grabbed the bludgeon, but he hit me again. Then the door swung open and I fell out."

Logan said he first feared his life was in danger when Geery called him to his office last November for a night conference concerning the art business.

It was about this time that he and Geery were indicted for $53,000 fraud in connection with the sale of clients' art properties.

"On that night, after the conference, we left to take a subway and Geery suddenly remembered he had forgotten his watch," Logan said.

"He went back to get it, and while I was waiting a man I never saw before pushed me down the subway steps."

Kimberly High to Publish Annual

Staff Named for Kimet. to Be Issued During Coming Spring

Kimberly — The high school annual, Kimet, will be published for the second consecutive year this spring.

First aid problems were studied by the Boy Scouts of Troop 19, at a meeting Monday evening. Inter-club first aid contests will be held at the village hall Friday evening. Three patrols will participate with the winning group going to the council competition. The scouts will canvass the village for old paper Saturday afternoon.

Harry Van Himbergen, village treasurer, announced that for the remainder of the month, taxes may be paid at his home each day from 9 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 1 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and also in the evening by appointment. After Feb. 29, which is the deadline for collecting taxes, a penalty will be effective.

TIME HANGS HEAVY

Tulsa, Okla. — (AP) — Even judges can be mistaken.

Attorneys waited impatiently in Common Pleas Court for the Saturday session to start. The minutes went by and finally the clerk called the judge's home.

"Oh, no, you're mistaken," said the judge blithely. "I don't have a docket until Saturday."

"This," said the clerk, "is Saturday."

The judge's face still was red when he reached the court-room.

They would expect the worst and others said breaking a mirror is almost sure to bring seven years of ill luck.

Voters Oppose Entering Conflict Even if Allies Appear to be Losing, Survey Shows

BY DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

Princeton, N. J.—If Germany appears to be defeating England and France, should the United States enter the war?

With surveys showing that public sympathy is overwhelmingly on the side of the Allies, this question grows in importance every month the war drags on. Three times since hostilities began, the American Institute of Public Opinion has measured sentiment on the issue. The trend shows a sharp decline in the number of voters who believe the United States should take up arms against Germany if the Allies are losing.

Whereas more than two-fifths of voters advocated this action the first week of the war, only about one-fifth favor it today.

The trend is as follows in the Institute's three separate surveys.

"If it appears that Germany is defeating England and France, should the United States declare war on Germany and send our army and navy to Europe to fight?"

	Yes	No
Last Sept.	44%	56%
Last Oct.	29	71
Today	23	77

The decline is not due to any decrease in American sympathy for the Allied cause, for Institute surveys find the majority want the Allies to win and want to give them every aid short of armed intervention. The decline is, rather, another indication of the deep-seated desire of the people to avoid shedding American blood in Europe's battles. The majority apparently consider at the present time that keeping out of war is even more important than giving unrestricted aid to the Allies.

There is, however, a tiny group of voters who have always been in favor of taking up arms against Germany regardless of circumstances. Institute researches show that the group numbers approximately 3 per cent. The amount of war sentiment in the country ranges, therefore, from about 3 per cent—the number who want to fight Germany now—to 23 per cent—the number who would fight Germany only if the Allies appear to be losing. The rest, an overwhelming majority, are staying out no matter what happens.

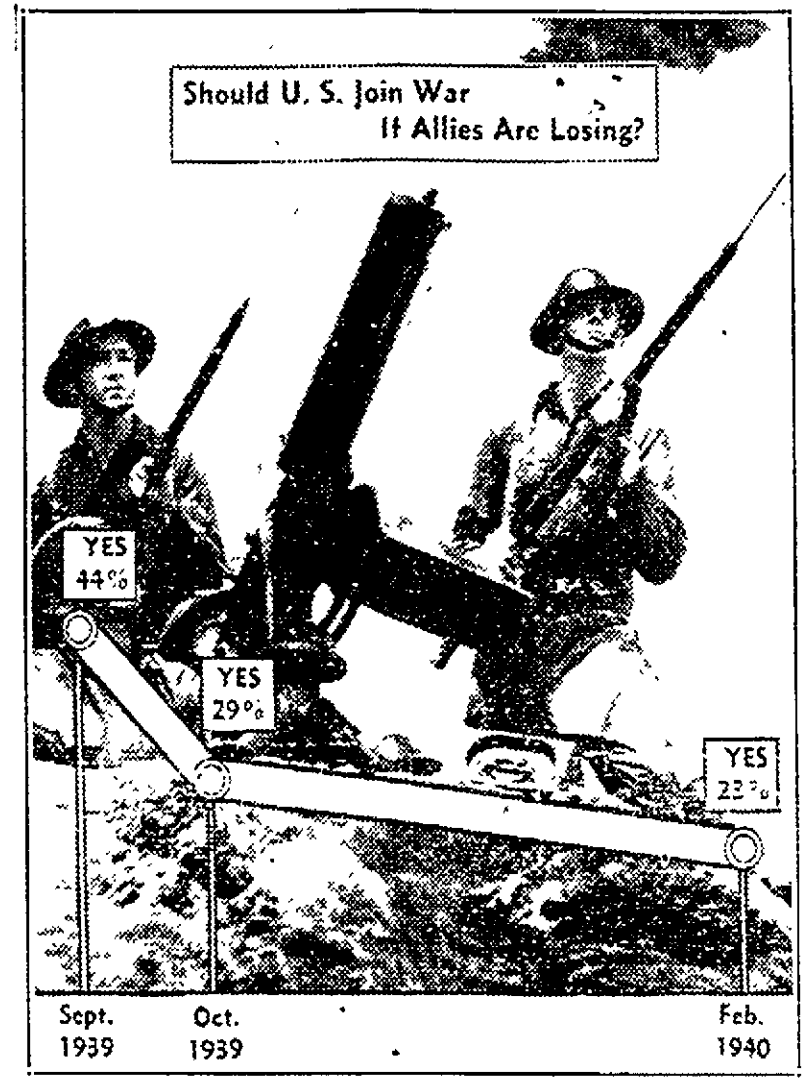

The future trend of sentiment will depend directly on events in Europe. If Hitler launches a spring offensive and the Allied losses are bloody and staggering, it is distinctly possible that the emotional reaction of the people will alter present sentiment.

For the present, however, the general sentiment of the majority as expressed in the survey is that "it isn't our fight," "as long as Germany doesn't bother us, there's no reason to bother her," "it would ruin us financially for years to come," and "at least one nation should be left to pick up the pieces."

The ones who, on the other hand, think we should go in if the Allies were fighting with their backs to the wall declare that "if we didn't help England and France we would be next," that "we should do all we can to save democracy," and that "the Germans must not be allowed to win."

JOBBERS TO MEET

Milwaukee — (AP) — More than 600 jobbers are expected to attend the three-day annual convention of the Wisconsin Petroleum association which opens tomorrow. The annual banquet Thursday will be addressed by Dr. Glenn Frank.

Should the United States send American soldiers like those above to fight Germany if England and France seem to be losing? Public opinion studies find that only a minority say "yes" and that minority has decreased since last September.

Medina School Boys Build Pheasant Feeder of Crates

Medina — The older boys of the Medina school, led by Benny Gawresky and Vernon Lippert, have built a pheasant feeder from orange crates and other odds and ends of material available. They have placed it in a field adjoining the school grounds. Pheasants and partridges have been coming regularly to feed from it and from the grain the boys scatter on the ground nearby. Earl Ruppel, father of one of the boys, supplied them with corn and barley until a sack of feed was procured from the conservation department.

A daughter was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Christianson. Mrs. Edward Winckler is confined to her home because of illness.

Plans are being made for a community party at the Medina school house Thursday evening, Feb. 28. Committees in charge are: Entertainment—Edward Winckler, chairman; Charles Schneider, Walter Flunker, Ernest Knutzen and Gordon Siebert; lunch—Leonard Lippert, chairman, Lyle Ray, Clair Earl, Stanley Smith and Harold Braman.

Mrs. David Ruppel is confined to her home because of illness. Mrs. William Brooks and daughter Felicia, Two Rivers, are visiting at the home of N. A. Perkins.

Mrs. LeRoy Lemke and Mrs. George Popp, Jr., are confined to their homes because of illness. Olive Kessler, Enderlin, N. D., is visiting at the George Popp, Jr. home.

Common Council at Waupaca Has Session Lasting 23 Minutes

Waupaca — With only routine business to come before the common council Tuesday evening, it took but 23 minutes to dispose of all bills and petitions—one of the shortest meetings on record.

A Class A and wholesale malt beverage license was granted to Fred Dahm, Jr. A resolution pertaining to the purchase of three lots adjoining the athletic field to square up the field and to vacate the streets affected by the lots met with the approval of the council, the purchase price being $50 for the three lots plus back taxes which totalled $34.40.

At the next regular meeting of the council the question of extending the deadline for payment of taxes without penalty to July 1, will be decided. No action was taken on the matter other than to announce the plan of discussion for another meeting.

Col. Holden Speaks At Lions Meeting

Discusses National Defense at Bi-Monthly Session at Waupaca

Waupaca — Colonel William Holden was the speaker of the Lions club Monday evening at its bi-monthly dinner meeting at Hotel Delevan. His subject was "National Defense," in keeping with the week being set apart in its observance. Each Lion invited a Legionnaire as his guest.

Wives of Men's club members of the Holy Ghost Lutheran church were entertained by the club at a pot luck supper in the church parlors Monday evening. A social time followed.

Miss Jukia Hutchinson was the hostess to the regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union Tuesday afternoon. "The Federal Study of Marihuana" was the subject of discussion presented by Mrs. R. J. Deuel.

Guest night was observed by members of the Women's Bible class of the First Methodist church Tuesday evening in the church parlors. Each member was dressed in old-fashioned costume and had brought a guest. A program and games was followed by refreshments. Hostesses for the evening were Mesdames Paul Thatcher, R. J. Deuel, Edmund Johnson, Olive Stratton and Miss Josephine Mix.

Reuben Danielson will be in Appleton Sunday where he will meet with other state directors of the junior chamber of commerce association to discuss the annual bowling tournament, tentative dates for which have been set as March 23 and 24 and March 30 and 31.

Monday Night Club Holds Dinner and Costume Party

Waupaca — The annual dinner and costume party of the Monday Night club was held Monday evening in the library club rooms. Forty members were present for the dinner and informal evening which followed. The committee in charge of the dinner included Mrs. Guy Mumbroe, chairman; Mesdames Oscar Cook, J. A. Terno, H. Durawa, Joe Feinberg, SOI Minkoff, Carl Cohen and E. J. LaHue. A brief program was in charge of Mrs. Paul Thatcher who gave a patriotic reading and led the group singing. Mrs. James Carew sang two solos, "Land of Mine" and "God Bless America," accompanied by Miss Aleura Miller.

The social time included games, impromptu readings and the Virginia reel.

Costumes worn by the women were colonial, Egyptian, bridal couple, Mary Tudor, Baby Snooks, Donald Duck, Russian, Swedish, Danish, Norwegian, George and Martha Washington.

Next Monday night the club program will include a short play by high school students, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Gates. Other members will be the readings to be used by the student in their declamatory and oratorical contests.

Kenosha Pays Homage To Former School Head

Kenosha — (AP) — Mrs. Mary D. Bradford, 84, former president of the state teachers association, was paid public homage by the community at a "Mary D. Bradford Brotherhood day" celebration here last night.

After receiving tributes from former pupils, teachers and city officials, she was presented with a formal resolution by the board of education renaming Kenosha High school as the Mary D. Bradford High school.

Mrs. Bradford taught school here 10 years, prior to which she had spent 16 years teaching at the Central State Teachers college of Stevens Point, Stout Institute, and the Whitewater Teachers college. She became Kenosha superintendent of schools in 1910 and retired in 1921. She was elected state teachers association president in 1911.

Paper Mardi Gras Will be Held in City July 1 Week

Jaces Vote to Sponsor Carnival, Independence Day Celebration

The first annual Fox River Valley Paper Mardi Gras will be held in Appleton the week of July 1, according to H. L. Davis, Jr., president of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The decision to sponsor the paper carnival was made at a meeting of the Jaces board of directors last night after the proposal was approved by the retail division and the board of directors of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce.

The mardi gras will be held in conjunction with the Fourth of July celebration and is believed to be the first celebration of its kind in Wisconsin. Efforts will be made to give the paper mardi gras national publicity and to make it an annual event for the valley.

Expected to cooperate in the celebration to publicize Appleton's and the valley's principal industry, paper making, are the 77 service, civic, fraternal and church organizations in the city and paper industries throughout the valley, Davis said.

Tentative plans call for a mardi gras parade with people dressed in costumes made of paper produced in valley mills, a pageant on the history of paper making in the Fox valley, election of a paper king and queen and a fireworks display on the Fourth of July. The celebration will be patterned somewhat after the New Orleans mardi gras, Davis stated.

Davis said committees will be appointed within a week to start promotion work for the mardi gras and Independence day celebration. The idea was suggested by Harry Rotter, manager of the Conway hotel, to the board of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce.

Committee Inspects Shovels at Milwaukee

The street and bridge committee, Alfred Wickesberg, city engineer, and Gene Harris, assistant street commissioner, returned yesterday from Milwaukee where they inspected several power shovels.

The committee met today to consider bids and was expected to make a selection before the council meeting tonight. The five low bids are being considered.

Making the trip were Aldermen Brautigan, Weinke, Franke, Grignon and Vanderheyden.

Train Hits Auto: Six in Hospital

Two Victims of Accidents At Madison in Critical Condition

Madison.—Two of the six persons injured last night when their automobile was struck by a Milwaukee road passenger train at the N. Randall avenue crossing were reported in critical condition at a hospital today.

They were Jerome Bohm, 20, driver of the car, who suffered a skull fracture, and Donna Westphal, 14, injured internally.

Survivors mainly from cuts and bruises were Ivan Fleming, 17, William Grady, Jr., 16, Leona Richards, 16, and Esther Brunk, 13.

Authorities said all victims were residents of the village of Verona, about 10 miles southwest of here. The locomotive of the Sioux train, west bound out of Madison, carried the car about 40 feet. Engineer Jay J. Shipley told police the train was moving slowly and he applied the brakes when he saw the car passing two others which had stopped to allow the train to pass. The accident occurred about 10:25 p. m.

New Richmond.—Traffic on the main Omaha line between here and Spooner was tied up by derailment of 20 freight cars between New Richmond and Stanton yesterday. No one was injured.

The freight train, made up largely of cars laden with coal, was bound for St. Paul. The engine brought the first 18 cars of the train to St. Paul, while eleven cars on the rear were taken back to Spooner.

Traffic over the line was rerouted through Eau Claire.

Completing Study at Cooperative School

Norman Sieber of Appleton this week is completing a 4-week period of training at the annual institute for employees and managers of the Midland Cooperative Wholesale at Minneapolis, Minn.

The institute is held from Jan. 23 to Feb. 24 at Camp Idubhapi near Loreto, Minn. Students from Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, and Illinois are attending, about 40 in all.

Displays has "become a problem" at the fair and that "something must be done about it." He pointed out that "many counties have set up junior fairs" and quoted figures showing how 4-H club entries have increased considerably in recent years, but the exhibition space at the Seymour grounds has not been enlarged.

Fred Huth, secretary of the Seymour fair, told the board that conditions at the last fair were "very difficult" because of lack of room and that the directors would be unable to use the $2,000 which the board voted the fair last fall.

Huth explained that the money was not enough to pay for a building and asked that the board grant $2,500 more. He said that $4,500 would be added to a WPA grant and the total would be sufficient to make building improvements.

Huth displayed a drawing of a new exhibition building, 144 by 62 feet in size, which he said the Seymour fair needs. It was explained that this building would be suitable for other uses, a point that several supervisors evinced interest in, such as county sales, meetings and sports.

Several supervisors wondered if the fair was not in the "wrong location," being some distance from the county's center of population, but Supervisor Jess Lathrop said that with cars so plentiful, he didn't think it made any difference. Huth said he had no objection to changing the name to "Outagamie County fair" and that although it had "always paid its bills" in past years, it did not make sufficient money to make big improvements without help. Several of the supervisors remarked that fairs never made money.

Finally, with the clock hand moving closer to the noon hour, supervisors suspended discussion on the fair and shifted their attention to the courthouse.

The board this morning voted to complete the American digest system now maintained in the courthouse law library by purchasing the Second Decennial, Third Decennial, and Fourth Decennial from the West Publishing company of St. Paul, Minn., after Joseph Witmer, president of the Outagamie County Bar association, asserted there was a great need for the volumes to simplify legal work.

The total cost for the volumes, including discount, is $564. The vote was 4-5.

Henry Van Straten, county superintendent of schools, explained the method of determining high school tuition before the board.

Two new men, Herb Wichmann and Reno Stammer, sat in with the board this morning. Wichmann filled in for Supervisor George Wichmann of the 14th ward, who is ill, and Stammer for Louis A. Stammer, 15th ward supervisor, who is out of town.

The board earlier in its morning session discussed at some length the matter of improvements to the Seymour fairgrounds, and heard two speakers declare that exhibition space for 4-H clubs and other young people's groups is inadequate.

William Reise, agricultural teacher at Seymour high school, said that the need for more space for 4-H

VIIPURI CALLED SECTION OF FRONT AS REDS ADVANCE
As Soviet artillery hurled shells into Viipuri, the Finns classed the city, a view of which is shown here, as a definite section of the fighting front. Russians said their troops were mopping up areas only six miles away from the second largest city in Finland. The Finns said that the city was in no immediate danger of capture.

Charges 'Nudity, Sex and Sin' Featured Too Much in Press

Springfield, Ill.—A town meeting of the air discussion on "Who Controls the Press?" brought the assertion from a Methodist minister that "nudity, sex, sin and divorce scandal seem to have high news value in our society and yield the press handsome returns."

The observation was made last night by the Rev. Frank Campbell of Dawson, Ill., who served for 17 years as a Methodist missionary to India.

V. Y. Dallman, editor of the Illinois State Register of Springfield, declared on the same program that "public interests control the press."

Mr. Campbell held newspapers generally lacked idealism and were "controlled too much" by commercialism. "Purchased press control," he added, "shamelessly aids the continuance and spread of the cocktail habit and the attendant debauchery."

Editor Dallman said there were "unscrupulous and corrupt newspapermen, as in every other human activity."

"But," he asserted, "stand representative reporters, editors and publishers up against any other group—politicians, lawyers, doctors, preachers, teachers, businessmen and industrial leaders—and I am sure that the newspaper profession will not come off second in honest judgment as measured by service, courage and honor."

DEATHS

Railroad Pool to Continue Service

Commission Suggests Study of Line Between Twin Cities, Superior

Washington.—The interstate commerce commission today authorized the continuance without change of a passenger train pooling arrangement between Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn., and Duluth, Minn., and Superior, Wis., but suggested negotiations looking toward improved service.

The commission dismissed a complaint by the Duluth Chamber of Commerce and the Minneapolis Traffic association asking that authority for the pool be withdrawn or that it be continued subject to improved train service. The complaint alleged that the pool had destroyed competition and had resulted in inefficient, inadequate, inferior, and unreasonable train service.

The complaint urged that a morning train similar to the Gopher, which leaves Duluth at 4:30 p. m., be run to Duluth.

Needs Special Study
The commission said the record "affords no ground for a definite conclusion that such a train as petitioners desire would increase railroad traffic sufficiently to pay for its operation," but added that existing passenger train service was not satisfactory.

"Considering all the factors involved," the commission added, "both actual and speculative, it seems to us that the matter of an improved service is one which peculiarly lends itself to special study by the respondent railroads in conference with the petitioners and others interested. If an improved service can be worked out in this manner, the chances of its successful operation would probably be greater than if it were ordered to be established without such mutual consideration."

Railroads participating in the pool are the Northern Pacific, Great Northern, and Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie. The pool was established about 12 years ago and has saved the railroads probably $1,000,000 a year, the commission said.

It Is Said--

That the closed-door policy against transients in Outagamie county this winter has been responsible for a decreased number sent to the county detention camp. In past winters an average of from 15 to 25 served terms at the camp, but this winter the average is below 10. Transients are discouraged from coming into the county because they are not given free breakfasts and as a result there is less panhandling and fewer arrests.

Lloyd Schindler Enters Race for Engineer's Post

Rudolph H. Kubitz in Race for Fourth Ward Council, Board Jobs

A contest for the position of city engineer in the spring election was assured this morning when Lloyd M. Schindler, former city engineer, filed his nomination papers for the job.

Schindler, who had not previously announced his candidacy, will oppose Alfred Wickesberg, incumbent, who is finishing his first term as engineer. Schindler was defeated by Wickesberg two years ago after he had held the office for a period of 11 years.

Another new candidate today is Rudolph H. Kubitz, 1602 N. Morrison street, who will seek both the city council and county board jobs in the Fourth ward. His papers were filed today. Kubitz is a former alderman and will oppose Alderman Carl A. Rehfeldt, who defeated him a year ago. Kubitz so far is unopposed for the supervisory post.

DeBruin Withdraws
Joseph N. DeBruin, for whom papers were being circulated for mayor's job, announced his withdrawal from the primary race today. His withdrawal leaves Mayor Goodland, incumbent, Alderman Lawrence McGillan, councilman from the Seventeenth ward, and Albert C. Rule, a former mayor, in the race.

Competition developed today for Joseph A. Kox, city treasurer. Nomination papers were filed this morning for Martin A. Hendricks, 501 N. State street, who will oppose Kox in the primary.

Nomination papers were filed today for Harry P. Hoefel, who is seeking reelection to the position of city attorney. Hoefel, who is finishing his second term, is unopposed to date.

All but two of the 11 candidates for the city clerk's job have filed their nomination papers. Those who filed today are Dorothea Deisinger, deputy clerk, Victor P. Schmidt, 929 N. Owalissa street; Edward E. Sager, 620 E. North street; Royall C. Hume, 617 N. Appleton street; and Armin E. Scheurle, 1321 N. Union street.

School Board Race
Papers were filed today for Mrs. Margaret E. St. Clair, 702 S. State street, who will run for one of two available school board positions. The incumbents, Mrs. Edward E. Lutz, and John H. Wood, have filed their papers.

George E. Peotter, incumbent assessor, filed his nomination papers this morning. He is unopposed.

Joseph Mauthe, 1408 S. Jackson street, filed papers for the Twelfth ward aldermanic post. He is a new candidate and will oppose the incumbent, Alderman Edward Knut; Walter J. Nissen, 129 W. Foster street; and Reinhold Hannemann, 1525 S. Oneida street.

Harold H. Douglas, 314 S. Victoria street, filed papers for the Eighteenth ward aldermanic race. His opponent is Alderman Charles J. Captain, the incumbent.

Four candidates for county board posts filed papers today: Charles Schiebeler, 1122 W. Spencer street, and John H. Ney, 1223 W. College avenue, candidates in the Eighteenth ward; Floyd Acheson, 549 N. Mason street, incumbent in the Sixteenth ward; and George E. Wich-

Post-Crescent Is Given High Rating

Wins Honorable Mention in General Typography Contest

The Appleton Post-Crescent today was presented with a certificate of award in the Inland Daily Press association's first general typographical excellence contest. Elmo Scott Watson, national president of Sigma Delta Chi, made the presentation in ceremonies at the Sherman hotel in Chicago. Maurice E. Carlier, production manager, accepted the award for the Post-Crescent.

The Post-Crescent won honorable mention rating in Class C, newspapers with circulation of 10,000 to 25,000. There were 85 newspapers entered in the contest. Judges were Douglas McMurtrie, nationally known typographic counselor; J. L. Frazier, editor of the Inland Printer, and Dean Kenneth E. Olson, of the Medill School of Journalism, Northwestern university.

In giving the report for the judges, Dean Olson praised the prize-winning papers as examples of the new trend toward greater readability and more attractive appearance. The newspapers were scored on the basis of head dress, body dress, advertising typography, general makeup and press work.

Guernsey Owners Will Hold Parley in City Tuesday

Musser, National Secretary, to Meet With Associations

The annual meeting of the Outagamie County Guernsey Breeders association will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, Feb. 27, an hour before the opening of the district conference, at the Hotel Appleton. J. F. Musser, county agricultural agent, announced today.

Guernsey breeders associations from Outagamie, Winnebago, Calumet, Fond du Lac, Waupaca, Brown, Manitowoc, Shawano, and Waushara counties will gather here for their annual conference on that day.

Carl Musser, secretary of the American Guernsey Cattle club, and Cliff Finley, field man, will attend the conference and discuss breeding problems.

The Outagamie county association will act as host to the other county groups. A banquet will be served at noon.

Musser is recognized by cattle breeders as one of the outstanding authorities on Guernseys. He has studied in both the United States and abroad.

Accompanying Musser and Finley will be George Britts, assistant secretary of the Wisconsin Guernsey Breeders association.

Council of Cutover Counties Wants Tree Crop Aids Maintained

Rhineland.—The executive committee of the council of Wisconsin cutover counties, at a meeting here yesterday, adopted a resolution urging the state emergency board to refrain from reducing fiscal crop acreage aids for the next fiscal year and to restore a cut made for this fiscal year.

In past years, $150,000 appropriated by the legislature was not sufficient to fulfill all payments, the committee contended.

It maintained also that a 25 percent cut ordered by the board for payments to be released in April would mean that aids would be reduced from the statutory 10 cents per acre to less than six cents.

The committee emphasized that the council desired to coordinate expenditures of all rehabilitation agencies in 26 northern counties, rather than request additional appropriations. Local control was favored.

A study of the immediate needs of the area was planned, with the Wisconsin County Boards association to handle the inter-change of data between the counties.

Settlement to Help Liquidate Voliva Holdings

Compromise Tax Agreement Clears Way to Satisfaction of Creditors

Chicago—The path to liquidation of Wilbur Glenn Voliva's financial holdings was cleared today when Federal Judge John P. Barnes lifted a six-year-old barricade by approving a compromise tax settlement.

Frank T. O'Brien, counsel for the colorful overseer of the Christian Catholic church in Zion, Ill., said settlement of the government case would make way for satisfaction of creditors who have claims totaling $800,000 against Voliva and clear up a complex tax and industrial situation in the religious community.

The government claim amounted to more than $100,000, including penalties and interest. The compromise provided settlement for $10,000 cash, withdrawal of the government's liens and the return of a $50,000 trust certificate issued under a prior compromise which failed to go through.

The government's dispute was not over failure or refusal by Voliva to pay taxes, O'Brien said, but over the valuation of properties.

Acquired Lands In 1910

Voliva acquired the Zion lands in 1910 after he had succeeded the late Alexander Dowie as overseer of the cult which is taught that the world is flat. To members of the colony he issued leases expiring in 3000 A. D.

In 1926, Voliva sold a parcel of land for $20,000 or more at a profit. The government computed the value of the land when it was acquired, compared it with the sale price and concluded the overseer had profited extensively.

On the basis of this single sale, O'Brien said, the government surveyed the entire land holdings, established a valuation and asked a tax on the difference between the valuation when acquired and the later valuation.

Voliva paid an income tax in 1927 and 1928, but the government contended he owed an additional $85,000. In 1933 Voliva was forced into bankruptcy and in 1934 the government filed liens totaling $86,892.21.

Claim Reduced

In 1937 Voliva agreed to turn over all his property for liquidation under an organization known as the Zion Estate Liquidation trust. The government and O'Brien agreed to reduce the claim to $50,000 and Federal Judge Charles Briggie approved the compromise, which included issuance of the $50,000 trust certificate to the government pending liquidation.

The government reversed its position the next year and asked instead a net profit on each sale until the claim was satisfied. The trust opposed the plan. Last July, Homer Miller of the internal revenue department conferred and agreed to the $10,000 cash settlement compromise.

O'Brien said Judge Barnes' action opened the way to complete liquidation, and would clarify the status of leaseholders in Zion, which had the local tax situation in a "muddle." He said it was likely the long-term leases would be exchanged for outright deeds to the property.

Niles Center, Ill.—Note well the name of this town, because it is still just plain Niles Center despite a three-months' campaign and the cheers, jeers and threats of the Ridgeviewites.

After two-hours' debate and much heckling on the part of a faction which wanted to change the name of the Chicago suburb to Ridgeview, village trustees decided, 4 to 2, that the old name—Niles Center—was good enough.

Opponents of the change claimed that theirs was the only Niles Center in the United States, while Ridgeview came a dime a dozen.

Pegler Charges A.F. of L. Heads Failed to Clean Out the Thugs

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER
New York—Edwin Leahy of the Chicago Daily News, a reporter who has made a specialty of union affairs, has just finished a series of ten stories, intended, as he said, "To allay the increasing public suspicion of the labor movement."

"The purpose of these articles," he wrote, "has been to offer a basis for the conclusion that the vast majority of the trade unions are on the up-and-up and that the black sheep among them are giving the whole movement a 'bum rap'."

Having read his series, it is my conclusion that he did not accomplish his purpose.

In the first place, he didn't show that the vast majority of the unions are on the up-and-up, but took the position that only the bad unions receive notoriety. It is true that those unions which have received notoriety lately—namely, the so-called stagehands' union and the union of building service employees—are bad unions and not on the up-and-up. But it doesn't follow that all of the bad unions have received the same measure of publicity.

The teamsters, for example, enjoy a better reputation than they deserve because their national leadership is personally clean. In details, however, the teamsters have been a bad lot in New York, and it is well known, of course, that on the Pacific coast, under Dave Beck, this union established a fascist dictatorship which not only undertook the legitimate and laudable task of raising the teamsters' wages but presumed to limit and regulate business competition by the decrees of one man.

Mr. Beck boasted that he had placed an embargo on California beer in Washington and Oregon and had taken over certain breweries and was running them because the teamsters were having a jurisdictional fight with the brewery workers.

Behind the curtain of privacy in some unions, the A. F. of L., while claiming great privilege as the body of labor with a capital L, has not delivered an account of its trust, and there is so much unrest and complaint within the unions that the suspicion arises that all is not necessarily on the up-and-up in the quiet unions. Union rank and file keep quiet for other reasons than content.

It Has Responsibilities Equal to Great Privileges

It should be noted that the stagehands' and building service employees' unions also enjoyed quiet until a few weeks ago, and that when that quiet was disturbed the American Federation of Labor was not responsible for the outcry. The A. F. of L. was content to take its toll, or lug, off the top of the dues of the members and to let union-busting criminals get away with extortion and terrorism until the rotten conditions were exposed. Ever since then, although the best minds of the federation have held a meeting in Miami, they have not deplored the rottenness itself but the exposure.

It seems not to occur to the American Federation of Labor that it has responsibilities to the nation which are equal to its great privileges. The betrayal of labor occurs not when foul conditions are exposed but when men elected to responsible office neglect their duty to guard the sanctity of A. F. of L. charters, and certainly to keep these charters out of the hands of criminals.

The rank and file are not necessarily content because they are quiet or because they contribute out of their poor pay to keep wages going to racketeers who have been sent to prison for robbing them. It is not in a spirit of loyalty that the rank and file re-elect thieves to office in their unions so that they may be robbed again and again.

The American Federation of Labor needs a reorganization and a revival of spirit in its national authority. It needs men on top who will instantly challenge intrusion into labor with a capital L by thugs who have been underworld characters ever since they were old enough to snatch a purse and men who will demand an accounting of union moneys by arrogant grafters with prosperous sidelines who rise to the command of big component groups.

Mr. Leahy is correct, I think, in saying that the black sheep unions are giving the whole movement a bum rap. But the high command was not ignorant of the character

Council Approves Sale Proposals on 4 City Properties

Aldermen Accept Recommendations for Finance Committee

New London—The sale of four city properties to New London buyers at a stipulated sum was approved by the common council as recommended by the finance committee at a regular meeting of the council last night.

Sales authorized by land contracts are: the Mary Wochenski property in the Third ward to William Mundi for $2,200; the Louis Tessen house on Wyman street in the Fourth ward to Gerhardt Michaels for $1,000; the Ed Besaw place in the Fifth ward to Adrian Quaintance for $500; the gravel pit on the old Fairgrounds road to R. Hart for $75. A report on the Elizabeth Lehman property was not completed.

A tavern license was granted to Fred Morack, 322 Wisconsin street, for the Kiewit building on North Water street on condition that the improvements required by the city liquor ordinance be made to the building before its opening.

An operator's license was granted to David Freiberger, 24.

Bids On Pipe
The city clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for 3,000 feet of 6-inch water main pipe to be used for the new city well in the Fifth ward. Bids will be received until 7 o'clock March 5 and will be opened at the next council meeting that same evening at 7:30.

A claim by John Muskevitch for $11.15 damages to his car which he alleged occurred when he struck a city hydrant buried under the recent snow, was referred to City Attorney Putnam for legal opinion. Payment of the damages was recommended by Light and Water Superintendent Ray Thomas.

A written inquiry by August Grunwaldt to the legal status of an alderman employed at the city wood lot and receiving compensation for his labor also was referred to the city attorney for an opinion.

Ebert Scores 615 In Tavern League

Scores Single Games of 210, 205 and 200 to Break Circuit Record

New London—Carl Ebert slapped the maples for a 615 series at Prah's alleys last night to trinkle one pin over the standing 3-game record in the Tavern league. With games of 210, 205 and 200, he paced the Franklin House to two more victories with Meiklejohn's Heaven Hill Boys as the victims. His only support was Marshall Ludwig's 222 and 530 combination. For the losers Bob Houk cracked 193, 540; Leo Barlow 190, 527; Thurm's Taverners of Sugar Bush traded cellar posts with the Sportsmen's Taverners of Bear Creek by trimming them three.

CLASSIC LEAGUE
New London's Miller High Lives continue on top of the Waupaca County Classic league despite the loss of two games to the Tripod Chevs at Clintonville last night. Harry Kluth paced the winners with a 611 total showing games of 235 and 218. Erv Buelow led the leaders with a 604 count on lines of 180, 211 and 212.

Knapstein Brews dropped a notch into fourth when they gave two games to Schlitz Brews of Waupaca at home on Prah's alleys. They lost the second game by four pins, the third by seven, copping on total pins 2,727 to 2,693.

Gordon Meiklejohn kicked over a 609 total for the locals with efforts of 224, 193 and 192. Keith Prah collected 561. Buss Pope banged 597 for the victors with lines of 202 and 224 and E. H. Smith spilled 216 and 590.

The team scores:
Miller High Lives 873 848 977 2,698
Tripod Chevs (2) 909 875 059 2,743
Schlitz Brews (2) 923 900 861 2,693

Fireworks Law Change Is Asked

10 Dealers Want Ordinance Modified to Permit Restricted Sale

New London—An appeal to change the city fireworks ordinance in accordance with the state law presented before the common council last night by 10 New London dealers. The council banned fireworks entirely last year.

An aldermanic committee of Harry Emans, Otto Stern and Lynn Springmire was appointed by Mayor E. W. Wendlandt to confer with the dealers to evolve a satisfactory compromise. In the signed appeal the dealers expressed the opinion that complete banning of fireworks was detrimental to the interests of tax paying business men and as long as fireworks are allowed by the state, transient sellers would profitably operate outside the city limits. The business men suggested a $2 retail permit fee to be issued by the city clerk, dealers' stock to be open to police inspection and the type of fireworks and length of sale to conform with the state law; and the shooting of such fireworks to be limited to the premises of the purchaser and prohibited on public streets and parks.

Council to Place Assessor Job on Appointive Basis

City Attorney Authorized To Draft Ordinance Making Change

New London—The city assessor's job at New London will be removed from an elective office to one of appointment, according to action taken by the common council at its regular meeting at the city hall last night.

On motion of Alderman Harry Emans and William Litts, the council unanimously voted to authorize City Attorney Giles H. Putnam to draft an ordinance which will place the assessor's job under control of the council and take it out of the realm of politics.

A committee consisting of Aldermen A. R. Margraff, William Litts and William Behm was appointed by Mayor E. W. Wendlandt to collaborate with Putnam in working out the details of the provisions. Questions to be decided are whether the position should be filled by election by the council from a list of applicants or by confirmation of the mayor's appointment; the term of the office, and the salary to be paid.

Vote March 5
If a petition is filed by the required number of voters within 20 days after the adoption and publication of the ordinance, the proposed change must be submitted to a referendum vote of the people. The proposed ordinance is to be submitted at the next regular meeting March 5.

Reasons advanced for the change during the aldermanic discussion were that under the council appointment the assessor is under no obligation to the voters, the job may be more permanent so the assessor becomes more familiar with the work and properties and can make truer evaluations, and more time can be devoted to the important task.

Primaries May Have Major Effect on Presidential Race For First Time in 28 Years

BY MORGAN M. BEATTY

Washington—(AP)—Significant among the political signs of the times is the fact that the presidential primary tussles are crashing Page One in mid-winter—and in competition with war news.

The front-page positions of headlines like "Dewey Enters Illinois Race," and "Farley Slate in Massachusetts," may mean that rank-and-file voters will have a chance to play an active, practical role in selecting nominees for president.

If the "average voters" do, it will be the first time that John Q. and Mary Jane Citizen have definitely participated in the presidential preliminaries on a nationwide basis in 28 years. For it was in 1912 that the popular voice played hob with Republican primaries and gave Teddy Roosevelt's backers the courage to set up their candidate as an independent.

Voters' Influence Vague
Before 1912, and since, the influence of the rank and file in the trial heats has been indirect, vague, inconclusive.

The reason for their impotence during the candidate-hunting phase of presidential politics lies in the fact that the democratic way of nominating and electing is unsuited to smoking out candidates for office.

It works smoothly only after the candidates have been picked and the final race is on. For instance, you can't actually draft a man who doesn't want to be drafted because, in so doing, you deprive him of the liberty to run or not to run, a liberty guaranteed by the democratic form of government.

That automatically leaves the selection of candidates to political parties, and, more especially, to the people who make a profession of running parties.

Caucuses Used First
Party leaders first adopted the secret caucus system because it was already in practical use as a town-council method of picking candidates. Out of the national party caucuses in Washington came suddenly and mysteriously appeared voters had no choice but to pass on the caucus selections of both parties.

About 1825, the caucus died the death of a political villain and the convention system supplanted it. In the convention, the parties were supposed to select their candidates openly. But soon the evils of the caucus appeared in the form of the "smoke-filled back room," and cliques were charged with manipulating conventions like Punch and Judy shows.

Around the turn of the century, the political primary idea evolved, almost spontaneously, as a remedy for the evils in the convention system. Under the primary system, the idea was to control political parties under state laws, and make them quasi-public organizations.

Primary A Progressive Idea
But from the very start, the primary movement was doomed to failure as a nationwide institution. In the first place, each state has a right to do as it pleases about political parties, and in the second place, professional politicians usually distrust gusts of popular opinion. They fought the primary idea from the word go.

The result: only 14 states, albeit the more populous ones, have presidential primaries. In three others, Arkansas, Georgia, and Alabama, voters may have a primary if the powers that be in the parties will let them. Alabama leaders have decided to hold a primary this year. The others are making up their minds.

That means 15 states—Alabama, California, Florida, Illinois, Massachusetts, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, West Virginia, and Wisconsin, will elect their candidates to the national conventions. However, eight of the Illinois and New York delegates are picked by party committees. The District of Columbia Democrats also elect their delegates, but the Republicans do not.

Those 15 states will have a total of 492 delegates at the 1940

Steel Markets Follow Pattern Of Recent Weeks

Buying Is Unchanged or Lighter, Production Recedes

Cleveland—Steel markets continue to follow the pattern of recent weeks. Buying is unchanged or lighter, and backlogs and shipments still tend downward, according to magazine Steel.

Steelmaking is receding less rapidly, the national average last week being off 2 points to 69 per cent. This compares with 55 per cent a year ago. Ingot production remains in excess of new business, consequently a further adjustment between supply and demand is indicated.

Individual orders for most products are small. Circumstances surrounding mill deliveries and prices encourage buying for only early needs, with purchases also restricted by tonnage in consumers' inventories and due against previous commitments. Cancellations of old orders have been relatively few, although in some cases buyers are requesting postponement of shipments.

Expect Improvement

Seasonal betterment in operations of the automotive and building industries with the approach of spring is probable. Brisk activity in shipbuilding and in production of machine tools, aircraft and certain types of armament appears assured, while relatively good export demand for iron and steel products apparently will continue so long as existing European conditions prevail. Farm equipment builders anticipate active business in tractors and implements.

Recent shrinkage in automobile assemblies moderated last week, total output of 95,000 units being a drop of only 930 from the week before. This extended the margin over production a year ago to 79 per cent. Last week's reduction was accounted for largely by General Motors Corp.

Scrap prices continue weak, despite recent heavy snowstorms in eastern states which interfered with collection and preparation of old material. Lower quotations in several districts brought the scrap composite down 29 cents to $16.73. This is the lowest in five months and a drop of $5.37 from the peak last October.

Important Outlet

Shipbuilding continues an important outlet for plates and other steel products. About 24,000 tons will be required for two ocean liners pending for the maritime commission. Steelmaking schedules vary widely among different districts. For example, last week Birmingham was unchanged at 90 per cent and Detroit declined 1 point to 92 per cent, while Youngstown was off 1 point to 43 per cent. Sharpest decline was 6 points to 63 per cent at Chicago. Other reductions included 3 points to 66 at Cleveland and 2 points to 68 at St. Louis. Buffalo advanced 91 points to 70. Unchanged areas were eastern Pennsylvania at 68, Wheeling at 86, New England at 63 and Cincinnati at 61.

Mae West, of "Come up and see me some time" fame, made her first public appearance at the age of five in a church social.

Erke hall Friday evening. Prize winners were Will Sigl, Ben Parthie, R. E. Nowak and R. Tesch. The schafkopf club was entertained at the Kronsner home Monday evening.

State Livestock Jumps in Numbers, Value During 1939

Inventory Shows Largest Milk Cow Total in Wisconsin's History

More livestock is on Wisconsin farms than a year ago, according to a livestock inventory report of the crop reporting service received by J. F. Magnus, Outagamie county agricultural agent. The inventory shows that the farm value of all livestock in the state is greater than that of January, 1939.

With adequate feed supplies on most Wisconsin farms during the last two years, livestock numbers have increased with the exception of sheep, lambs, horses, and mules. The state had one of the largest pig crops in 1939 in the history of the state, and there are also more heifers being kept for milk cows than in recent years.

Wisconsin has 2,223,000 head of cows and heifers two years old and over kept for milk, which is the largest number of milk cows on farms in the state's history. The total cattle population in Wisconsin is estimated at 3,406,000 head compared with 3,339,000 head on farms a year ago. Included in the total number of Wisconsin cattle are about 900,000 heifers and heifer calves being kept for milk cows.

The value of all Wisconsin cattle is estimated at $195,238,000 compared with $183,867,000 a year ago. Cows and heifers two years old and over kept for milk alone have a farm value of $157,833,000, which is $7,482,000 more than the value on January 1 of last year.

Hog Population
Estimates indicate that the hog population in the state on Jan. 1 was 1,701,000 head compared with 1,454,000 head a year ago. Although there are more hogs the price has been low this winter and the total farm value of all swine in Wisconsin at the beginning of the year was estimated at $14,953,000 compared with $17,898,000 a year earlier.

The farm value of all livestock in Wisconsin on Jan. 1 was estimated at $279,264,000 compared with $277,559,000 a year earlier. This increase in value comes in spite of a decrease in the value of hogs, horses, and chickens.

According to the livestock inventory Wisconsin has 470,000 head of sheep and lambs, which is about the same as the number on farms on January 1, 1939. Some increase has occurred in the farm price of sheep during the last year and the inventory shows that the total value of all sheep in the state is about $2,864,000 compared with $2,620,000 a year earlier.

About 16,500,000 chickens and 86,000 turkeys were on Wisconsin farms at the beginning of the year. The chicken population has increased since 1938. A year ago there were 15,464,000 chickens on Wisconsin farms. Although the number of chickens is larger than a year ago, the farm value on January 1 of $10,923,000 was about two-thirds of a million dollars less than the value a year earlier.

Creamery Butter Stocks Reduced

Holdings on Feb. 1 Smallest for That Date Since 1936, Report Shows

State creamery butter stocks on Feb. 1 were the smallest for that date since 1936, and the holdings of all cheese at the beginning of the month were below the February 5-year average, according to a crop reporting service bulletin received by County Agent J. F. Magnus.

Although more than 94 million pounds of cheese were in cold-storage on Feb. 1, holdings of all cheese were about a half million pounds below the 5-year average and 12 million pounds below those of Feb. 1 of last year.

Stocks of American cheese were 15 million pounds below a year ago and 64 million pounds below average. Holdings of Swiss cheese were reported at over 5 million pounds and were below a year ago but above the Feb. 1 average.

The total cold-storage holdings of creamery butter at the beginning of the month were reported at over 29 million pounds compared with more than 111 million pounds a year ago. About 45 million pounds of creamery butter are shown for the 5-year average cold-storage holdings for Feb. 1.

Nine 4-H Clubs to Hold Bull Sale at Winneconne Feb. 24

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — As a climax to a long-term 4-H club project, nine Winnebago county 4-H clubs will offer their bull calves, raised as a club project, at a bull sale to be held at the Winneconne sales pavilion, Saturday, Feb. 24.

The club members took the bulls as two to three weeks old calves and raised them to a serviceable age. Winnebago county breeders gave the club members the calves as their part of the program.

Winnebago county 4-H members who will have bulls in the sale are: Elwyn Bushwelder, Waukau; Arden Winkewider, Altonville; Wilber Allen, Clarville; Jean Allen, Clarville; Victor Metzke, Clayton; Lyall Springer, Wolf River; Robert Kittleson, Fremont; Quin Kolb, Meadow Brook; Eldor Kirk, Wolf River; and Phil Lautenbach, Fremont.

The consignment consists of 11 bulls—seven Holsteins, three Ayrshires and one Guernsey. All of the calves were shown in the junior division at the Winnebago county fair and placed well. In addition, every calf boasts a production record of at least 350 pounds of butterfat per year on his dam. Most of the bulls have dams with over 440 pounds of butterfat.

Mechanization of Agriculture Hikes Farm Capital Investment

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Rapid mechanization of Wisconsin agriculture in the last few decades has greatly increased the capital investment in Wisconsin farming, increased cash costs of operating a farm, and makes it likely that future depressions will affect farmers more deeply than those in the past, University of Wisconsin agricultural economists suggested today in a new research bulletin.

The average Wisconsin farm today has enough power and machinery to handle two or three times its acreage, the study said, while the average farm in Wisconsin increased in total capital investment from $4,700 in 1900 to more than $12,000 in 1930.

The reason, it was shown was not increased size of farms, or considerably increased land values, but tremendous increases in buildings, machinery, and livestock—or farm equipment.

There is in Wisconsin today a tractor for every three farms. Moreover, the rapid increase in tractor purchasing in Wisconsin has not produced a corresponding reduction in work stock in Wisconsin, so that most Wisconsin farmers today have more power than they can use, from two to three times as much as they can use on their own acres. Such surplus capital investment results in higher costs of farming, the economists pointed out.

Changes in crop production, increases in the size of farms, research pointing to the development of new power driven machinery models for the smaller farms, and cooperative ownership, will ultimately reverse the trend, it was pointed out.

"Hay crop silage is increasing in popularity in Wisconsin. Experimental machines now are being field tested that promise to revolutionize grass and hay-crop silage and hay making. When used for making grass silage, these machines cut, chop, and elevate the forage into a wagon or truck. They are light, compact, and can be operated by a one-plow or two plow tractor," it was said.

Farm mechanization, however, in addition to the problem of increased investment in machinery and equipment, raises another important consideration, the rise in cash costs of farming. Tractor fuel cannot be raised on the farmers' acres. It must be purchased. Tractor prices remain relatively rigid, like all manufactured articles, the bulletin explained. "In the future, the effects of depressions on farmers may be more severe than they have been in the past, since it will be harder to reduce cash costs."

84,000 Bushels of Corn Stored Under Loans of AAA Plan

Being Held in Reserve Through Ever-Normal Granary Program

A total of 84,495 bushels of Wisconsin 1939 corn has been stored under loan on farms as part of the national ever-normal granary plan of the AAA, according to a bulletin received by J. F. Magnus, county agricultural agent.

Added to the 76,876 bushels of 1938 corn rescaled and still held on farms or in government bins, this storage total of 161,371 bushels is Wisconsin's share in the corn reserve for the time of short crop scarcity or extra demand.

The ever-normal granary was planned to protect both consumers and producers of corn against highly fluctuating corn prices, according to Walter Katterhenry, of the state committee. Katterhenry points out that by storing their surplus corn on their own farms in good years farmers can help prevent corn prices from going to extremely low levels in years of surplus production and from extremely high prices in years of below normal production.

Loans of 57 cents per bushel can be obtained, under the farm program by farmers in commercial corn areas who store part of their corn. Outside the commercial areas farmers can get a loan of 43 cents per bushel.

Most of the 1939 corn crop stored in Wisconsin is in the commercial corn counties of Columbia, Crawford, Dane, Grant, Green, Iowa, Lafayette, Rock, and Sauk. Other counties in which some corn is stored are Buffalo, Pierce, St. Croix and Trempealeau.

According to the most recent national figures, 88,646,040 bushels of 1939 corn have been stored under loan. Nearly 250,000,000 bushels of 1938 corn were rescaled last year. This scaled corn does not cover the remainder of surplus carry-overs which are not held on farms under loan.

No loans on 1939 corn will be made after March 31.

Grange Sees Motion Pictures on Safety

An illustrated movie on safety was shown by the Oshkosh police department at the meeting of the South Greenville Grange Saturday night at the Grange hall. After the program there was a basket lunch, arranged by John Schaefer, lecturer. About 75 persons were present.

The second of a series of card parties sponsored by the South Greenville Grange will be given Friday night at the Grange hall.

Young Cow Makes Production Record

Shows 87.4 Pounds of Butterfat in Month in Testing Group

Waupaca—An outstanding record, was made for January in the Waupaca County Dairy Herd Improvement association, No. 1, by registered Holstein calf owned by James Christenson. With a production of 1,784 pounds of milk containing 87.4 pounds of butterfat, she not only made a big record as a young cow, but led the records made by any cow in the testing group for the month.

Christenson's herd also had the highest herd average for the month, the 13 registered Holsteins averaging 1,274 pounds of milk, or 47.3 pounds of butterfat.

Other high herd records and owners are Harvey and Leon Thoma, 37.9-pound average; Harold Axtell 35.5 pounds; Waupaca County asylum, 34.9; Carroll Ritchie, 34.3 pounds; and John Peterson, 34 pounds.

Owners of high producing individual cows and records are James Christenson 80.2 pounds of butterfat, Martin Kuehl 77.8 pounds, Almo J. Larson 70, Elmer Rohloff 67.7, James Christenson 66.5, Elmer Rohloff 63.3 and Harvey and Leon Thoma 63.

CIRCLE ENTERTAINS AT 'COME-AS-YOU-ARE' BREAKFAST

Circle 2 of Emmanuel Evangelical church entertained at a "come-as-you-are" breakfast Tuesday morning at Mrs. Nick Zylstra's home, 311 N. Durkee street. To most of the 55 women who were present the party was a surprise, for they were called for at their homes without notice and "kidnaped" as they were. Most of them were in kitchen frocks, and one of them came in a house coat. Contributing their part to the morning's fun, three members of the circle donned comical costumes. Mrs. Marvin Babler, left in the above picture, made herself up into a southern mammy. Mrs. Forrest Jabas, seated next to her, was dressed as a darky and Mrs. John Trautmann, seated at the right, as a butler. Three leaders of the circle, shown in the back row, are left to right, Mrs. Gordon Schulze, Mrs. Arthur Erdman and Mrs. Nick Zylstra. The breakfast was one of several projects being sponsored by the circle. The next will be a public supper after Easter. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Former Dramatists Of Senior School Have College Leads

Dramatic stars of Appleton High school are rapidly becoming stars in the colleges and universities which they are attending, casts for spring plays reveal.

Betty Bosser has the lead in "Our Town," a 3-act drama to be presented March 13 to 16 in the Wisconsin Union theater. In high school Miss Bosser is remembered as second lead in the senior play for 1936, "The Novel Princess." She also participated in the declamatory recital. As a freshman at Lawrence college she played second lead in the production, "First Lady."

At Oshkosh State Teachers college Lois Russler has the lead in the spring play, "First Lady." In high school Miss Russler had a leading role in "The Novel Princess" and also read in the declamatory recital. This is the fourth major production in which Miss Russler has had a major part. Also in the cast of "First Lady" are Lawrence Herzog and Eimer Schabo, Appleton High school alumni.

In the Lawrence college production of "Our Town" Ellen Marty will play the leading role. Miss Marty took the lead in "Spring Dance," the 1933 senior class play, and participated in the declamatory recital. Sally Rothchild, who will be remembered for her part in "Romance by Emma" last year also is in the cast.

Philatelists of High School to Have Party

Philatelists of Appleton High school will gather March 4, not primarily to discuss new stamp issues, but to have a party. Arrangements for the social event will be made by Dan Moser, Rosemary Gabriel, Kenneth Gertsch, Arlene Goffin, Grace Griesbach and Randall Grunert. The highlight of the program will be a talk by William Baker on paper used in stamp making.

Edison Parents and Teachers Observe Anniversary of P.T.A.

EDISON parents and teachers stepped back 20 years Tuesday night at the reunion and anniversary meeting of the P. T. A. when former parents, past presidents, officers and teachers told about the "days back when" in speeches and revived programs. The program followed the minutes of the parent-teacher organization from its organization date, December, 1919, presenting in sequence highlights of the organization through the years.

The tone of the program was based on the parent-teacher meetings of earlier years with musicals, community singing and the auctioning of box lunches, brightly tied with paper ribbons.

Dr. A. A. Truver, first president of the organization, recalled the association in its first two years. A. G. Osterhaus, principal of the old first district school, which is now Edison school, discussed the district school system in Appleton and told how the union system of schools was obtained when the junior high schools were built.

Mark Catlin, president of the organization in 1927, presented the Gettysburg address as he gave it for the P. T. A. group 15 years ago, in Lincoln costume and impersonation. Mrs. Emil Voecks, accompanied by Mrs. Mildred Boettcher, gave a violin solo. In the roll call of former association workers short talks were given by Mrs. Harvey Younger, formerly school nurse in

Missionary to Talk Sunday at Church Service

THE Rev. Nicholas Moroz, missionary-evangelist of the Russian Gospel association of Chicago, will speak and show pictures about Russia at 7:30 next Sunday night at Emmanuel Evangelical church. The Salvation Army will participate in the service, Jacob Meyer and William Lloyd of the Appleton Church of the Air, singing solos.

The Rev. Mr. Moroz was born in the province of Wilno village, Jaskowka, and lived there during the World war and the communistic revolution. He came to the United States in 1924, and after hearing a sermon at a Russian Gospel meeting in Kenosha decided to go into mission work. He attended Bible school in St. Paul, Minn., and was graduated in 1933. He returned to Russia in 1936, after working among Russians in the United States, but has now come back to this country to continue his work.

The Rev. M. A. Hanch, pastor of St. Therese church, will speak to the Theresian Study club at its next meeting March 5 at the parish hall. Last night Mrs. John Brock was leader and she read from Father O'Brien's book, "The Faith of Millions."

Circle 8 of First Congregational church, the Young Mothers circle, will meet at 1:30 Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rowland Campbell, Potato Point. Mrs. R. D. McElroy is captain of the circle.

"St. Thomas" will be the subject of an address by the Rev. Dascomb E. Forbush, pastor of First Congregational church, at the third of a series of Lenten meetings at 7:15 Thursday night at the church. The D.E. club will sponsor a candy and cookie sale before and after the service.

A booster meeting of Branch 485, Aid Association for Lutherans of Mt. Olive Lutheran church, will take place at 8 o'clock Friday night at Mt. Olive church parlors. There will be special music and movies by B. E. Mayerhoff. Members and friends of the branch are invited to attend.

Music, Drama Critic To Talk in Appleton

Richard S. Davis, music and drama critic of the Milwaukee Journal and editor of the Green Sheet column, "And So It Goes," will review the current Broadway plays at 8 o'clock Thursday evening March 7, at the Lawrence Conservatory of Music. His appearance here, is sponsored by the Appleton branch of the American Association of University Women, which is selling tickets for the lecture.

Mr. Davis spent his childhood in Appleton, his father, Dr. John Davis, having been minister at the Methodist church here for a number of years.

The younger Davis studied for a musical career, but later gave it up for newspaper work. He is in New York this month seeing the plays and will have first-hand information on the current Broadway attractions when he speaks here.

Hoosier Housewife Finally Wins Recognition for Lyrics

BY ALBERT W. WILSON
New York —(U)—It took 28 years for a Hoosier housewife to win public recognition for authorship of the honied "Melancholy Baby" lyrics. In the meantime, "Melancholy Baby" has mellowed through the years and been slowed down—"Hold it boys"—from a sprightly march to common time to be played "slowly, with feeling."

The new score's admonition to carry it "slowly, with feeling" is definitely a bow in the direction of the quartets who all these years have been in harmony against melancholia and vocally kissing away a Niagara of tears shed by the storied "baby." They found they couldn't stem the flood so touchingly in 2-4 time, and people seldom two-step any more anyway.

Back in pre-world years, Ernie Burnett, the composer of hundreds of popular songs, had some new music and invited Maybelle E. Watson to put some words to his tune, she being at the time a featured singer in fashionable places about town.

The manuscript, then entitled merely "Melancholy" was copyrighted Oct. 31, 1911; music by Burnett, words by Miss Watson, who now is Mrs. John Bergman, wife of a New York Central railroad police lieutenant living in Elkhart, Ind.

A year passed, and Burnett had verses and parts of the chorus redone by George A. Norton. For years—until recently—the song sold as a composition by Norton and Burnett. Minor changes were made from time to time. At first it was plugged, played and danced as a two-step, entitled "Melancholy," as was the original, and then "Melancholy Baby."

One of the most durable and consistently popular, it was one of the principal beneficiaries in the current revival of old songs on the air and in dance halls and night spots—not to mention its undying favor with numberless quartets.

It was not until a few years ago that Mrs. Bergman began legal action to establish herself as the original author. Her claims at last have been settled—with a sizable check—and now, with another publisher taking over exclusive rights, she will share half of all future royalties with Norton, the other half going to Burnett. All three names appear, on the new publication.

CHURCH SPEAKER
Speaker at Emmanuel Evangelical church next Sunday evening will be the Rev. Nicholas Moroz, above, Russian missionary-evangelist. He will speak and show pictures of conditions in Russia, his native land, which he visited in 1936.

Madison to be Host to State Club Conclave

ANNOUNCEMENT that the state convention of Business and Professional Women's clubs will not be held in Appleton this spring as previously planned, but in Madison July 25 was made at the meeting of Appleton Business and Professional Women's club last night at Conway hotel. The change was made in the plans because there will be a regional convention in Madison July 26, 27 and 28 in which clubs from several states will participate, and the state board decided that a larger assembly would be assured for the state meeting if it were held in Madison immediately preceding the regional convention.

R. L. Swanson, instructor at Wilson Junior High school, showed his colored motion picture, "That Boy of Mine," to the club last night. The club chorus sang three numbers, "Loch Lomond," a Scotch melody, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," a Negro spiritual; and "O Dear, What Can the Matter Be," an English folk song.

Table decorations were patriotic in theme, in recognition of Washington's birthday. About 35 members were present.

"Days of Our Years" by Pierre Van Paassen was reviewed by Mrs. F. J. Leonard at the meeting of General Review club Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Elmer O'Keefe, S. Walnut street. The next meeting will be at 2 o'clock in the afternoon on March 5 at the home of Mrs. A. J. Plankuch, N. Drew street, when Mrs. O. F. Basche will review "Grapes of Wrath" by John Steinbeck.

Mrs. Robert Dietrich entertained Our Motto club Tuesday night at her home on E. Newberry street. The evening was spent sewing, and George Washington decorations were used for the refreshments which were served. Miss Lillian Rogers won a special prize. Next week the club will be entertained at Mrs. Clarence Mott's home in Menasha.

Mrs. R. A. Pasch, 1217 N. Harrison street, was hostess to the Past Presidents club of Delta chapter, Employees Mutual Benefit association, Tuesday afternoon at her home. Bridge was played after the business session, prizes going to Mrs. Martin Verhoeven, Mrs. Lloyd Fumal and Mrs. Gordon Larsen. The club's next meeting will be its annual banquet March 19.

Beloit Man Named New President of Daily Press Group

Chicago—(U)—The new president of the Inland Daily Press association is Clinton F. Karstaedt, secretary-treasurer of the Beloit (Wis.) News-Karsiaedt, a vice president last year, was elected yesterday to succeed Tom H. Keene, editor of the Elkhart (Ind.) Truth, who was elected to a 1-year term on the board of directors. F. W. Schaub, business manager of the Decatur (Ill.) Herald-Review, was named vice president.

The association, which has a membership of close to 300 daily newspapers in 19 mid-western states adopted a resolution which declared that the interests of wage earners, consumers, agricultural and other producers were best served by retail merchandising unhampered by any form of punitive or discriminatory taxation.

Today and Tomorrow

Some Notes on War and Peace

It is inordinately difficult, I find, even to begin thinking about the peace that is to follow this war. There must be others who are laboring under the same difficulty. They must be others who, when they broach the problem, are as baffled as if in a dark jungle they had come face to face with an angry elephant, and were then told that it was their duty to tame the elephant.

How does one begin to tame an angry elephant? Does one climb a tree and from a safe height deliver an oration on the bad habits of elephants? Does one tickle the elephant's snout and offer him a handful of hay every time he gets really angry? Or would it perhaps be better to retire from his presence and take a course in elephant taming, a course which any really up-to-the-minute college would not doubt be glad to offer?

For myself, I do not know how to tame an elephant, or how to abolish war and establish perpetual peace. But for more than twenty years I have been worrying about the peace that was signed at Versailles, and have been criticizing it and listening to plans for reconstructing it and going as a newspaper man to conferences which were revising it. The only thing I know for certain about the next peace is that I know no one who can sit down at his desk and devise a plan which will tell the survivors of this war just what they ought to do.

How One Thinks About Settlement of War
So it has dawned upon me that a more modest approach to this great question might at this time prove to be more useful, and that before beginning to think about the settlement of this war it might be better to think about how one thinks about the settlement of such a war. In this way one might eventually discover how to take hold of the problem, where and how to begin to think about such a problem.

I shall not start, therefore, with a set of principles for making peace, nor with a plan and a program, but with a summary of what I believe are fallacies into which we tend to fall when we think about making peace.

The Fallacy of Our Own Eventual Omnipotence:
When we are under the spell of this fallacy, we imagine ourselves, sometimes crudely but more often subtly and unconsciously, as playing the part of the victorious masters of the world. We are Hitler in our dream castle, only we are still our own noble selves. We draw frontiers on maps. We make combinations of people. We dispose grandly and easily of the lives, the fortunes, the wishes and the prejudices of mankind. The underlying assumption is that we are in a position to impose upon mankind the constitution which we have decided is good for them.

This is, however, sheer fantasy—in Hitler's case a lunatic fantasy, in our own case perhaps only an amiable daydream. For nobody in all history, not Alexander, Caesar, or Napoleon, nor the Congress of Vienna or the Peace Conference at Paris, has ever remotely approached omnipotence of this order. It is, therefore, a fundamental error to think about peace on the assumption, however concealed, that some one, or even some one group of men, is going to arrange the world according to his heart's desire; and that this some one, or one of the some ones, is one's self.

The Belief in the Miracle of Universal Consent:
Many attractive schemes, of which the Kellogg Pact to Outlaw War is a classic example, are based on the assumption that all men will not only acknowledge the same principles of conduct (which is just conceivable) but that all men will draw the same practical conclusions from the principles. This is not, I think, conceivable—even theoretically; in practical affairs to act as if it were possible is to ignore the problem of war and peace and then to call this ignorance a solution.

Problem Is How to Obtain More Agreement
For the problem is not how men should act if they were all in fundamental agreement; if they were in fundamental agreement, there would be no problem and, therefore, no need of a solution. The problem is how to obtain more agreement than there is, and how to get on without wrecking our civilization by the conflicts which arise out of disagreement. Yet there are an astonishing number of fine plans in circulation today which tacitly assume that the

Wisconsin Indians Being X-Rayed by U. S.

Milwaukee—(U)—Nearly 2,500 of Wisconsin's 12,500 Indians have been X-rayed to date under a comprehensive tuberculosis case-finding and preventive program inaugurated by the federal government last summer. Dr. Arthur W. Dahlstrom of Minneapolis reported yesterday.

Dr. Dahlstrom, who is attached to the office of Indian affairs in the United States Department of Interior, said the present death rate of the Wisconsin Indian from tuberculosis is 280 per 100,000, or 10 times that of the white man.

He said the work of cataloging the disease among the Indians was undertaken as a cooperative effort by the Indian affairs office, the Wisconsin state board of health, and the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association.

It Looks Bad for Bachelors In Aurora, Ill., Next Week

Aurora, Ill. — (U) — Balloting for Aurora's "powder puff" mayor entered its final stages today and out of the conflicting issues one sure fact emerged—bachelors had best steer clear when the girls take over the city offices on Thursday, Feb. 29.

The voting closes tonight for the five girl nominees who aspire to occupy the mayor's chair for the 24-hour span during the city's annual "leap year day."

Fourteen feminine aldermen, all unmarried, also will be elected and all other offices in city hall will be filled by girl appointees who will supplant mere men for the one day. Managerial positions in various stores likewise will not escape the feminine touch.

A highlight of the day is the seizure, incarceration, and the ultimate fining of any and all bachelors unlucky enough to be found "on the loose."

The five "mayorality" nominees are: Audrey Kesel, public school dancing instructor; Garnet Lehnert, Luella Pauley, and Mary Stare, all stenographers, and Nellie Dietrich, factory employe.

Milwaukee, has been referred to Charles Forward, Oshkosh, referee in bankruptcy. The petition listed assets of $4,497.14 and liabilities totaling $5,195.41. Officers of the firm are Lothar G. Graef, president, Alma M. Graef, vice president, and Richard C. Graef, secretary.

Banta Girls League

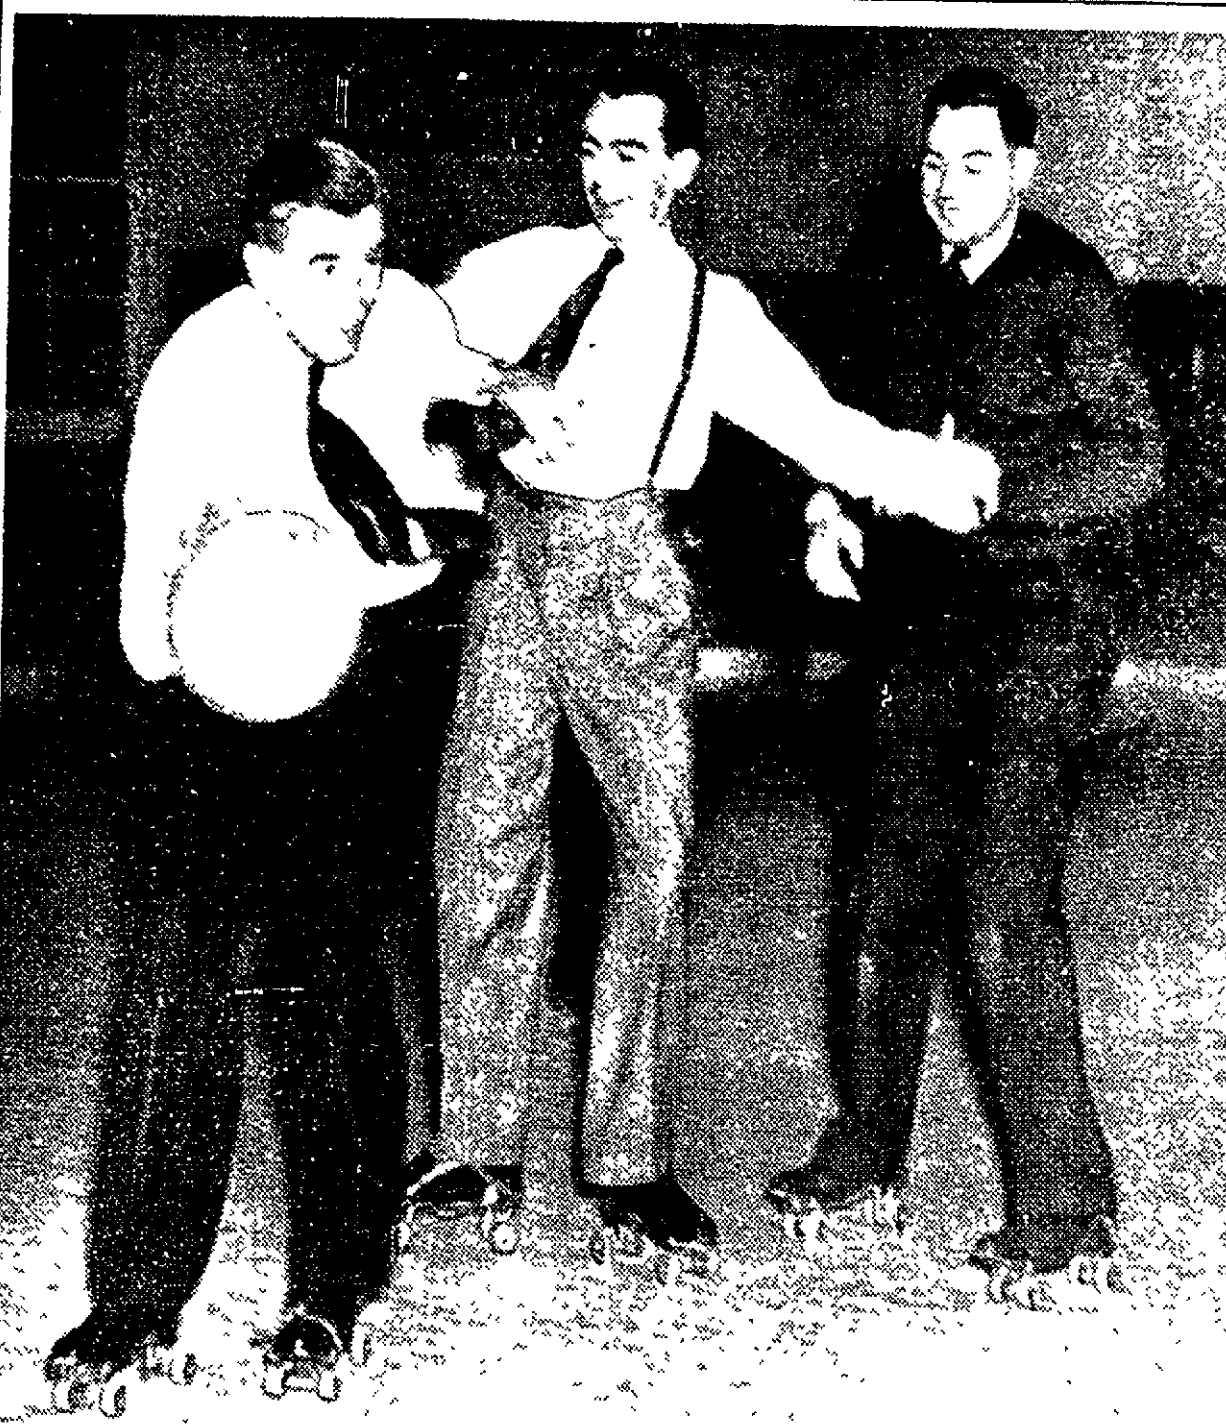

Standings:	W.	L.
Spades	38	25
Hearts	38	25
Diamonds	31	32
Clubs	21	42

Neenah — Hearts won three games while league-leading Spades were dropping two games to the Diamonds to make the Banta Girls league race for first place closer Tuesday night at Hendy alleys. E. Beck rolled a scratch 511 and G. Hickey turned in a 200 game for Hearts who had games of 755, 738, and 775 for 2,268.

M. Alger paced Clubs with a 504 series to games of 753, 737, and 751 for 2,241.

K. Kelly took top honors in the league with a 215 game and 563 series. Her scores helped Diamonds to two victories over the league-leading Spades. Diamonds had games of 776, 797 and 897 for 2,470 while Spades hit 820, 739 and 735 for 2,314.

TWIN CITY MEN PLAY BASKETBALL ON ROLLER SKATES

Menasha—Basketball on roller skates has become a popular feature of the roller skating parties at Winnebago Day school. Above Roy Sund, 333 Park drive, Menasha, is shown starting to dribble to the opponents basket while Reginald Waldo, Adella Beach, and Robert Eiss, 714 Hewitt street, Neenah, attempt to stop him. In a recent game, Sund starred for the team captained by Ivaux Andersen which included Russ Johnson, Dr. Richard Jensen, Joe Thomas of Milwaukee and Richard H. Bell. Dr. Fred Jensen led the attack of his team which included Robert Eiss, Edward Matthes, Reginald Waldo, Edward Forkin and Bud Durham. The latter team lost, 18 to 10. Spills are numerous in the game and foul are not recognized. (Post-Crescent Photo)

PTA Begins Move for Safer Driving of Delivery Trucks

Menasha — A suggestion for a cooperative project sponsored by Twin City Parent-Teacher associations, store owners and police departments to make for thoughtful and safe driving by drivers of delivery trucks was voiced as a result of safety talks by Walter Strong, director of industrial relations of the Menasha Products, and Irving Stulp, captain of the Winnebago County Highway police, Tuesday evening at the Nicolet school Parent-Teacher association's February meeting. Reactions to such a project will be sought from store owners and the police departments following contact with PTA leaders in the Twin Cities.

"Accidents don't happen, they are always caused," Walter Strong declared as he pointed out that thoughtlessness and carelessness were chief factors in accidents. Accident prevention should be a part of the every day activity of all, regardless of whether it is in the home, the factory or the office.

Outlines Safety Work
"The safest place in the world today is in the office and the factory," Mr. Strong declared as he outlined the development of safety in this country and the progress of the National Safety council which came into being in 1913 when a group of interested persons from varied industries met in Milwaukee. The enactment of workmen's compensation laws of which Wisconsin was a pioneer, the cooperation of industrial plants throughout the nation in safety campaigns as well as a concerted effort to teach workers to think safely and to recognize danger have aided in the development of the safety programs.

"Too often safety is considered dry. People don't like to hear about it. Safety is something the other fellow should do something about. To be successful in a safety program, all concerned must enter into it voluntarily. Perhaps the greatest cause for accidents is thoughtlessness and the inability to recognize dangers.

"The safest place to be," the speaker repeated, "is in the mill or office by 2 to 1 odds," as he quoted statistics to show that in 1938, 16,500 died in occupational accidents and 31,500 in accidents within the home.

Don't Recognize Hazards
"This presents a challenge to the homemaker," said Mr. Strong as he suggested organized effort for greater safety in the home. "Look for the hazard, the danger signal, and then eliminate that hazard. We live so close to these hazards in the home that we don't recognize them.

"Poor ladders, substitution of kitchen chairs or tables for ladders; poorly lighted stairways, cellar steps full of roller skates, cleaning implements, dust pans, scatter rugs on wax floors, faulty electrical equipment, garden tools not properly put away, poisons and dangerous utensils in reach of small children, fire hazards, all contribute to the many accidents in homes that bring death, permanent disability or serious injuries to people.

"The list of causes of accidents in homes also," said Mr. Strong as he listed machinery, vehicles which in the home might be tricycles, wagons, falling objects, flying objects, slipping, stumbling, falling, striking or stepping on objects, burns not electrical, handling of tools.

Extends Invitation
Mr. Strong invited members of the association to the second of the series of safety meetings which will be held next week in the Menasha High school under the sponsorship of the industrial plants of both cities in cooperation with the Vocational and Adult educational schools of Neenah and Menasha. Captain Stulp showed pictures of highway accidents and safe driving taken in and around Winnebago county following Mr. Strong's talk.

During the business meeting, the Nicolet PTA voted to join the Twin City Council of Social Agencies and Mrs. Hugh Sutton, president, announced that the March meeting would be March 26 instead of March 19, which would fall in holy week. Building for well-balanced lives through spiritual guidance will be the general theme of the meeting and the Rev. A. A. Chambers, rector of St. Thomas Episcopal church, will be guest speaker. The Menasha High school A Cappella choir, under the direction of Franklin LeFevre, will sing. Peter Jung will have a Camera club exhibit in the gymnasium also.

Mrs. Sutton also read two articles in observance of Founders' Day, Feb. 17. The Parent Teacher association celebrates its forty-third anniversary this month.

Russell Flom was program chairman and Lee Royer, social chairman for Tuesday evening's meeting which was a Father's Night program.

All-Stars Named To Face Supermen
Star Junior High Cagers To Play League Champs Monday

Menasha—An all-star squad of 10 players has been selected by John Novakowski to meet the Supermen, champions of the Menasha Junior High school basketball league. The play-off game is scheduled for next Monday afternoon at Butte des Morts gymnasium.

The final round of games in the league will be played Friday afternoon. They were scheduled for Monday but were postponed because of several conflicts. The Supermen already have clinched the league championship but second place will be determined by the result of the games. Cyclones will play Supermen and Badgers will play the Greyhounds. The Greyhounds and the Cyclones are tied for second.

The all-star squad will include Duane Gear, Sam Gartzke, and Captain Peter Block, all of the Greyhound team; Captain Frank Heckrodt, R. Miller, H. Ebel, and Clarence Spilski of the Cyclones, and Captain Richard Flom, Harvey Kuester, and Robert Carrick of the Badgers. Six members of the all-star squad are among the top 10 scorers in the league, including Pete Block who is second high with 63 points.

The Supermen also boast a high-scoring squad, including four of the high scorers in the league. William Grode, captain of the Supermen, leads the league with 117 points. Fred Rasmussen has 44 points, R. Smarzynski has scored 34, and T. Eliott has 23. Other members of the Supermen team are Koskowiak, Beck, and Barnstable.

Junior Baseball League Organizes For 1940 Season

Players Elect Roy Desjarlais, Fifth Ward, President of Circuit

Menasha — The Menasha Junior Boys baseball league has organized for the 1940 season with Roy Desjarlais, Fifth ward, as president. Other officers include Norbert Bayer, Fourth ward, vice president; Armin Weber, Jr., Third ward, recording secretary; Leonard Kaminski, Fourth ward, financial secretary.

V. C. Suess, First National bank, will act as treasurer for the league. Claude Wilmet will be the official scorer. Milan Skrypczyk, Leo Kraus, and Lee Royer will act as advisers.

A 20-game league season will open the latter part of May. Plans are being made to uniform the ward teams. Last year the First ward won the league championship. The age limit will conform with the American Legion Junior requirements. Players whose seventeenth birthday falls after Jan. 1 can play through the 1940 season.

Where ward squads are large a second team will be organized. These teams will play a 12-game schedule. Last year the league closed with an all-star game and a banquet attended by over 90 boys.

Ward Units Organize
The ward groups also have completed their organization. Richard Shesleski will act as manager and Ambrose Naleway will captain the First ward team. Ernest Koerner will act as manager of the Second ward team but no captain has been named yet.

The Third ward team will be managed by Roy Cox with Armin Weber, Jr., as captain. Bernard Brehm will manage the Fourth ward team and John Skalmowski will be the captain. The Fifth ward team will have James Brethauer as captain and Jerome Lingnoffski as manager.

Haas to Name Most Likely Nominee for G. O. P. Candidacy

Neenah — Forecasts on the most likely nominee for the Republican party presidential ticket will be made by Grant C. Haas, Madison, when he conducts the last of a series of six lectures at 7:30 Thursday evening at Kimberly school. The prospective nominee is distinctly a darkhorse but he meets all of the requirements. Haas, who has conducted two series of lectures on world problems in Neenah under the auspices of the school of vocational and adult education, said in an advance notice on the lecture.

Haas' topic for his sixth lecture will be "Can There Be World Peace?" He will outline the idealistic as well as the practical problems to be met in international disputes. Following the lecture, a 45-minute period of open discussion will be held.

Menasha Council Receives 7 Bids On New Fire Truck

Expect Action on Purchase March 5 After Study of Proposals

Menasha—Seven bids for the new fire truck were received by the Menasha council at the regular meeting Tuesday night at the city hall. The bids were referred to a committee of the whole meeting for tabulation and consideration, subject to the call of Mayor W. H. Jensen. Final action on the purchase probably will be taken at the March 5 meeting of the council.

Bids on a three man cab pumper ranged from $10,700 to $12,888.70 while bids on a five-man cab ranged from $11,500 to $13,288.70. Terms of delivery ranged from 45 to 100 days from receipt of the contract.

The council awarded the contract for the fleet insurance to Adolph Teitz on his low bid of $553.04 on one plan and $650.51 on the second plan. Bids were received from three other firms. The city attorney was instructed to check the policies with the specifications.

Objects To Charge
Alderman John R. Scanlon reported that a recent fire department regulation has established two captains while the council in adopting the salary ordinance set salaries for the chief, assistant chief, and one captain. He objected to taking the title of assistant chief from Jack Dombroski and pointed out that seniority right should prevail.

Scanlon pointed out that the assistant chief should be entitled to a hearing and that harmony could not be secured by the commission action. He asked the attorney to investigate whether the council should change its ordinance or the commission its bulletin. Some of the aldermen asked for a meeting of the council with the commission.

Mayor W. H. Jensen said that if the bulletin was the recommendation of the fire chief he could go over it but if it was the ruling of the commission the council would have to act. The mayor declared that he is going to be mayor until April 15 and both the police and fire departments will have to respect the mayor and council committees.

The council voted to purchase the Agnes Price property for $800 for the opening of Konekmac street onto London street. The city needs three-fifths of the property for the street opening and will sell the other two-fifths to the owner of adjoining property for $300. The mayor, clerk and attorney were authorized to sign the agreements.

Share Cost of Ditch
The city agreed to pay Harry Lopas $175 for construction of a drainage ditch across his property in the town of Menasha from Highway 114 to the channel near the Milwaukee railroad bridge. Storm water from the city mains previously has damaged the Lopas property and Lopas agreed to release the city from all claims for damage if the ditch is constructed. The town of Menasha will pay the other half of the cost.

In order to alleviate the traffic problem on River street at noon and 4 o'clock, Alderman William Karrow requested the attorney to see if Soo line railroad officials will permit use of the bridge near Kaukauna street for 20 minute periods during the rush hours.

The railroad bridge was used for truck traffic when the lift bridge was being constructed on Tarco

The Post-Crescent's carriers are a highly intelligent and intensely interesting group of boys and among them will be found many of the civic and industrial leaders of tomorrow. street. Karrow pointed out that it now takes 15 minutes to travel two blocks to get onto Tayco street. He said that manufacturers along River street would be willing to pay for any necessary watchmen at the crossing.

A letter was received from the board of education giving details of the payment of $584.26 to Fuller, Schober, and Berners, about which the council recently requested more information. The letter stated that $784 was due the firm on the original contract but the architects had taken $200 off the bill for their share of the corrections in the auditorium floor.

Mayor Jensen had the clerk read a portion of previous minutes of the board which authorized acceptance of the building and payment of the contracts in full. He said that he was tired of talking about the school and the public is tired of listening but they still have to pay for it.

Referred To Attorney
The request of George Banta, Jr., that the council authorize a release for the city as beneficiary of an insurance policy was referred to the city attorney. Mr. Banta took out an insurance policy on his life naming the city as beneficiary for development of the park in the Fifth ward. The park board and council since has decided to sell the log tract lots for residences instead of keeping the property for parks and the terms of the bequest do not apply.

Mayor Jensen declared that he would not sign any papers. "If he wants to donate, all right but not with 17 strings attached," the mayor said.

Alderman John R. Pinkerton pointed out that Mr. Banta has paid the premiums on the policy and should be entitled to the cash surrender value.

The claim of the Tri-City Oil company of an error in assessment was referred to the city attorney. The company claims that it paid $56.61 personal property taxes in 1937 while the county treasurer claims that the taxes are delinquent.

The city electric commission reported $120 expenses for 1939 and a balance of $306 in the treasury.

Announce Plans For Game Survey

Over 175 Sportsmen Join Poygan Restoration Group

Neenah—Plans for a survey to be conducted under the auspices of the Lake Poygan Restoration association on planting of wild rice in the Lake Poygan area will be announced at a meeting of the association at 7:30 tonight in the Neenah city hall auditorium.

More than 175 persons have joined the association and over $312 has been contributed toward the movement of restoring wild rice in waters in the Lake Poygan area for ducks, according to M. W. Finney, president.

The survey will be conducted determine where rice should be planted and how it should be maintained.

The association will be guided by the state in the planting of the rice, and an official from the United States biological survey department will work with state officials and members of the association in conducting the survey. Fred R. Zimmerman, assistant supervisor of refugees and public hunting grounds, and W. F. Grimmer, superintendent of game management, will be in charge. They will work with H. W. MacKenzie, head of the conservation department.

The association, according to Finney, is aiming to obtain a membership of 2,000 from the Fox river valley, and sportsmen who already have joined are from as far south as Milwaukee, Racine and Kenosha, as far north as Clintonville, and west as Waupaca. Sister organizations are being formed in some of these cities.

The Wisconsin Garden club federation is credited with organization of the Wisconsin Roadside Development council Jan. 18 in Madison. Five other state organizations which cooperate are the Wisconsin Federated Women's clubs, Wisconsin Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, American Legion posts and auxiliary units.

Missionary Says U. S., Japan Must Maintain Harmony

Tells Lions Club Destinies of Two Nations Are Parallel

Neenah — World history's next chapter will be written in Asia and around the Pacific ocean, not in Europe and around the Mediterranean sea, with America and Japan destined to play the major roles, Dr. William Axling, Japan missionary, said in a talk at the Tuesday noon meeting of the Lions club at the Valley Inn.

Declaring that China will play a big part in writing this new chapter of history, Dr. Axling, who has been a missionary in Japan for nearly 40 years, said that Japan in its hour of destiny and America will face each other across the Pacific. Because of the future work of these two nations and because their destiny is tied in one bundle, they can't live apart, walk apart or work apart. If this new chapter is to be written as we want it, these two nations must understand each other and strive for friendship, he said.

The Oriental war is tragic and deplorable, but it can't go on forever, the missionary said. When it does end, some nation must play the part of mediator. England, Germany, France and Russia are out, leaving the United States as the only country.

At the outset of his address, Dr. Axling showed the growth of Japan during the last 80 years, pointing out that until Commodore Perry opened Japan's doors 80 years ago, Japan had been completely isolated from the rest of the world for 300 years. When once Japan was launched as a nation, it went fast and furious.

The Japanese decided that the only way to win a place in the world was by the weapons and ways of the west. Japanese were fast learners, and in 60 to 70 years had learned all the tricks of western modern commercialism, industrialism, diplomacy and war.

The missionary outlined changes as the result of the influx of western civilization into Japan. Sixty-seven years ago, there wasn't a school in Japan, but when it started its educational system on a nation-wide scale, compelling its subjects to have at least six years of schooling, literacy jumped from zero to 99 plus per cent. Tokio today has 300,000 students, 85 high schools and 22 universities, and that is typical of all Japanese cities, he continued.

Large Shipping Interests
Eighty years ago there was no shipping in Japan; in fact, anyone trying to leave Japan was killed. Today, Japan's flag is floating on ships in all world ports, and its merchant marine, not including the navy, totals more than 3,000,000 tons. It builds and mans its own boats.

Japan changed from an overgrown to an industrial nation, from handicraft to the mass production of modern industry, causing a revolution in the lives of its people. One half of its population is in industrial cities. Forty years ago 72 per cent of the people were on farms and fishing boats.

Trade expansion has developed from primitive barter to more than 14 million dollars, he declared.

Rapid development has resulted in growing pains in Japan, and the Japanese face difficult problems the missionary pointed out. Land, for instance, is limited. Japan is smaller than California, and 85 per cent of it is mountainous, leaving 15 per cent open to cultivation. More than 70,000,000 people must live in this area.

Japan tried to overcome this problem by immigration, but 25 years ago, United States, Canada, Australia and other countries closed their doors to the Japanese.

It is said by economists that nations must have 25 raw materials to hold its own. Japan has an abundance of three, limited amounts of five and none of the other 17. America has an abundance of 17, an adequate supply of three and none of five.

Frank Says New Deal Acts From Defeatist Attitude

Washington—What the Roosevelt administration and Dr. Glenn Frank of the Republican program committee are both wrestling with is the fact that the country is in transition toward a consumers' economy.

Both of them see the same problem, but in different lights. Dr. Frank says the Roosevelt administration oversimplifies.

The New Deal has leaned rather heavily on the assumption that the day of big private expansion of industry was over. The capital plant was built. The task of settling the country and opening up our natural resources was completed. Railroad building was completed. Population increase was tapering off.

Therefore the government would have to pump more money into the system to compensate for the slowing down of private capital investment. The New Deal went into the Tennessee valley, to use a clear-cut illustration, and expanded power facilities where the private utility industry had done only part of the job. It began building rural electrification lines which private enterprise had not undertaken. The profit motive, sufficient to force development in the growing stages, was not deemed adequate to continue carrying the burden alone in a nation that had reached economic maturity. That in brief was the attitude of the New Deal.

Dr. Frank brands that as a defeatist attitude and points a different path for the Republicans which would depend more essentially upon private enterprise.

He would reject "the New Deal conception of a limited and lessening outlook for American enterprise." He thinks the next 25 years have as much promise as the 25 years before 1929.

Nature of Problem Changes As a Country Matures
True, says Dr. Frank, as a country matures, the nature of the problem changes. Its development becomes less "extensive" and more "intensive." The main job no longer is opening up new lands, forests, mines. It is invention, perfection, large-scale production "and wide distribution of the facilities and tools for more effective working and more satisfactory living."

For more than half a century, Dr. Frank points out, our economic frontiers have been more fruitful than our geographical frontier in promoting investment opportunities for savings, jobs for workers, markets for the products of our farms. (The automobile is an instance).

The frontier was gone long before the 1920s came with their great industrial expansion. And if our rate of population growth is slowing down, there are today 9,000,000 more persons as potential customers for American enterprise than we had 10 years ago. Housing has enormous possibilities. If no great new industries are in sight, none were in sight in 1905, when the automobile still was hidden around the corner. But there are, through research and technological advance, plans and specifications of marketable products, large and small, which taken together would provide the base for a great expansion of industry in the next ten years—if private enterprise could be induced to take the risks.

These scientific and technological results, says Dr. Frank, now wait to be translated into production and distribution in the fields of foods, clothing, plastics, motion pictures, agriculture, chemicals, rubber, transportation, communication, automobiles, airplanes, fuels, housing, lighting, and metals.

Wall Street Journal Adds Unusual Footnote
By coincidence a most remarkable footnote to all of this is added by the Wall Street Journal, which has just begun publication of a series of articles on the new "chemical revolution."

Du Pont, it is stated, derives 40 per cent of its total sales from 12 new lines brought to fruition since the depression began. It employs 7,000 more men and has reduced prices of these products 40 per cent in the last 10 years. Largest Du Pont dollar sales last year were in rayon; next, organic chemicals; then, fabric and finishes; and fourth, cellophane. All made their growth since 1929.

That is only one example. The Wall Street Journal has more.

Dr. Frank is doing a great service in dramatizing the possibilities which lie ahead. Never has life dangled so much almost within reach of the average man.

Roosevelt has been preoccupied necessarily with abuses and maladjustments in the capitalistic system and with feeding hungry men for whom that system offered no work.

Dr. Frank proposes that the Republicans now turn some attention to the constructive potentials of our system. He would remove the vinegar and set out the molasses and see if private enterprise can be coaxed into doing a job more adequate to its possibilities.

Ripon College Dean Gives Main Talk at Father, Son Banquet

Neenah—The annual father and son banquet of the Congo Men's club was attended by 97 boys and their fathers Tuesday night in the social rooms of the First Congregational church. J. M. Holderby acted as toastmaster and introduced J. Clark Graham, dean of Ripon college, who gave the main address.

Armin Weber, Sr., offered a toast to the sons and the response on behalf of the sons was made by Arthur Peterson.

Harlow Perham led group singing while Mrs. E. H. Schultz played piano accompaniment. George Lausman, Appleton, offered several whistling selections. Roger LaBerge, Appleton, offered a comedy act.

Members of the committee who made plans for the banquet were Herbert Heller, Victor Fritz, J. M. Holderby, Waldo Friedland, Charles Greiner and the Rev. Gerald C. Churchill.

Blaze at Neenah Store Results in Damage of $5,500

Roof and Rear of Jensen Building on Sherry Street Is Burned

Neenah—Fire at 3 o'clock this morning destroyed the rear and roof of the Anthony Jensen building, 418 Sherry street, which contained a grocery store and two second floor apartments, causing approximately $5,500 damage.

The origin of the fire hasn't been determined, firemen reported, but the blaze started on the roof near a chimney over the William Page apartment at the rear of the building. Mrs. Page discovered the fire.

When firemen arrived, flames were pouring out the roof and the rear windows of the building. Three lines of hose connected with hydrants and a stream from the booster tank were poured into the blaze and within 2½ hours, the fire extinguished.

Mr. Jensen operates the grocery store which is on the first floor, while Mr. and Mrs. Sam Clark occupy the front apartment and the Pages the rear apartment. Water damage was done to furniture in the two apartments and to the stock in the store.

Flames broke through the ceiling of the Page apartment and burned clothing, but the fire didn't do much damage to furniture or fixtures within the building.

The building is covered by insurance. Estimated damage to the building is about $3,500 and to the furniture and stock about $2,000.

Appleton Pastor Is Speaker at Annual Father, Son Dinner

Neenah — The Rev. Harry Culver, pastor of the Appleton Methodist church, talked on "The Deeper Companionship Between a Boy and His Dad" at the annual father and son banquet of the Fraternity club of the First Methodist church last night in the fellowship hall. More than 100 men and boys attended the banquet.

The Rev. Mr. Culver maintained that more is expected of modern boys because of their better environment and educational facilities. The highest hope of the fathers is to realize that their boys' lives are better than that of their dads.

He challenged the men to interest themselves in really worthwhile things in life if they want their sons to improve the social order. He concluded his talk with a plea to spare the young men from the ravages of war.

Short talks were given by P. J. Bylow, Dr. I. E. Ozanne and M. G. Hoymann on reminiscences of "My Dad When I Was a Boy." Evner Anderson presented an original skit. Community singing was held, and two boys led the salute to the American flag. Clarence Peterson, president, was the toastmaster. Mrs. Ernest Griener was chairman of the committee in charge of the banquet.

According to Miss Ruth Chaimson, director.

Casting of the play was scheduled for Monday night, but it was postponed because of illness of the director. The cast will consist of 14 characters, including seven boys and as many girls.

Elm Trees Lose To Auctioneers

Clintonville Team Snaps 14-Game Win Streak Of Bakers

Clintonville — Clintonville Auctioneers established themselves as one of the leading quintets in the state last night by checking a 14-straight win streak of the Elm Tree Bakers of Appleton, 49 to 44. The encounter was one of the roughest and most exciting exhibitions turned in by the Auctioneers this season, being marked with plenty of thrills, chills and spills.

This was the second time this season that the Clintonville five has marred a 14-game record, earlier in the year downing Hilbert after they had rung up 14 wins.

The Auctioneers really won the tussle from the free throw line, chalking up 17 out of a possible 22 points via the charity route. From the floor, the Bakers connected with 20 buckets and added 4 free tosses out of 16. The Auctioneers dumped in only 16 field goals. The Appleton team is the defending state champion.

Clintonville stayed in the game the first quarter on four free throws while the Bakers led at the end of the period, 8 to 4. In the second stanza, the Auctioneers marked their victory chant and started to pull away from the Elm Tree squad with 10 points for the period left the floor at the half with the scoreboard reading 23 to 18 for Clintonville. The entire second half was played in a dead heat both teams connecting with 26 points and the 5-point lead the Auctioneers built up in the second period was enough to clinch the victory. In the third quarter and also the last period, the Bakers kept whittling the Clintonville lead down a point or two and in the last stanza, with five minutes remaining to be played, took a 1-point lead but not for long. The Auctioneers with one eye on the clock began ringing the gong. With three buckets behind them, they played a waiting game and stalled out the win.

Sid Felts with 12 points on 3 rebounds and 6 free throws led the locals with Howie Gueller and John Reed a close second, each with 11 points, and Jumbo Elandt showing 10 points. Carl Lillge, who recently was with the Oshkosh All Stars, chalked up 13 points for the Bakers to top high scoring laurels for the evening followed by Wonsler with 10 markers.

Getting Married Is More Complex Than It Used to be

BY DOROTHY DIX

Getting married is a much more complicated adventure for a girl nowadays than it used to be. When Grandma entered the holy estate all she had to do was to pick out which one of her suitors looked best to her and tie up with him. But the modern girl only too often has to decide between her man and her job, and when she loves both she is on the fence and doesn't know which way to jump.

One of these bewildered young women has been telling me of her dilemma. She is a well-paid private secretary. She likes her work and finds it fascinatingly interesting. She enjoys the dressing up and going downtown in a morning; the routine of her office; wondering who she will see and what will happen; the thrill of waiting for the boss to pull off a big deal and having her small part in it; the excitement of being in a crowd and touching shoulders with people all day.

But she is engaged to a fine young man who makes enough for them to live on comfortably and who believes that woman's place is in the home and who tells her positively that when she marries him she must give up her job and go domestic. The girl doesn't want to do this. She wants to keep on with her secretarial work. She is afraid she will be bored just shut up in her own house all day. She doesn't like the thought of giving up her individual money, nor does she like the thought of giving up the boy friend, so what's a poor girl to do?

Being old-fashioned and still believing that, in the long run, marriage is the best career that a girl can espouse, I would say chuck the job and grab the man, and thank God you are getting a husband who is willing to take on himself the responsibility of supporting a family. Instead of leaving it to Georgiana to do it.

When a boy and a girl are desperately in love with each other and he is not making enough for them to live on, it is a fine thing for her to add her salary to his so that they can marry while their love is still fresh and ardent and before their romance becomes bedraggled and worn out with long waiting. Also when a man is sick and unable to work, or when he cannot earn enough to support his family, it is a noble and heroic thing for the wife to put her shoulder to the wheel and help pull the domestic load that her husband is too weak to drag alone. But these are exceptions to the general rule that the husband should make the dough and the wife should bake it. This is the division of labor ordained by nature when it made men the stronger and laid upon women the burden of child-bearing, and we flout it at our peril.

There are many reasons why the woman who does not need to work outside of her own home should give up her job when she marries. One is that it starts the young husband on the right foot by putting upon him not only the responsibility of being the head of the family, but it fills him with pride in being the one from whom all blessings flow. Nothing gives a man's ambitions so much as having his wife look up to him and be dependent on him, and nothing kills it and lowers his morale so quickly as his being dependent on her.

Another reason is that one of the things that men marry for is to get a home. They want to come home at night to a place where there is light, warmth and cheer, a good dinner smoking on the table and a smiling woman to welcome them. Consequently they feel gypped when they return, tired and hungry, to a dark and silent house where they will have to wait an hour or so for a wife who has been detained at the office, and who will feed them on the contents of a couple of cans.

Still another reason why a woman should concentrate on domesticity when she marries is because it is the best known device for holding a husband. He wants to be his wife's chief interest, not her boss. He wants her to be rested so she will be ready to play with him if he likes it, not so worn out that he will have to put one foot before the other. And above all, he doesn't want to have to take the brunt of all the nerves and irritations and temper she has had to suppress in business all day.

Making a home is a one-woman job. It takes all that any woman has of brain and brawn to make a success of it, and when she messes it up with another job outside of the home she generally fails in both.

Dilemma of Young Girl and Cosmetics
Dear Dorothy Dix—I am 14 and my mother is very much opposed to my using lipstick and only allows me to do it on very important occasions, and then is quite unhappy about it. She gives no reason for her dislike of this habit and she has agreed to abide by your opinion on the subject.

Answer:
I think that the use of cosmetics is a virtue and not a sin, provided they are put on artistically. Certainly a sallow complexion is improved by a discreet application of powder and rouge. So are pale lips by a little judicious use of lipstick.

It is the abuse and not the use that is objectionable. Your mother would not probably disapprove of your delicately tinting your lips but it disgusts her to see a girl with her mouth all daubed up with red paint until it looks like a slice of bloody meat.

beside the point of the question asked me by a girl who asks what to do about having lost her best boy friend's fraternity pin. She has looked everywhere for it and has done everything she can think of to find it. She would get him another, no matter how expensive it might prove to be—meaning how much she might have to do without to pay for it—it only she knew how to go about getting it.

She doesn't suppose she can go to a jeweler's and ask if they keep Alpha Beta Gamma pins, and say she wants to buy one. And on no account does she want to tell him about it, because he will probably not excuse her carelessness in the first place, nor let her pay for a duplicate in the second. She has thought of appealing to one of his "brothers" but she thinks the chance is small of his being willing to help her get a duplicate pin and let its owner remain in ignorance of the fact that his real pin is out loose and alone in the world somewhere.

The whole tone of her letter is so desperately upset, it even suggests somewhat the willingness to go to the tragic extremes of poor Mathilde, in de Maupassant's story.

of the necklace, in order to replace what she has lost. Fortunately, even though it is obviously true that no member of a fraternity could feel happy in the thought that his pin may have fallen into desecrating hands, I believe it is not impossible to order a duplicate from one of the official fraternity jewelers.

If you write to such a firm explaining what happened, giving them the name of the man whose pin it was, and the name of the fraternity, the chapter and his class year, they will, I think, tell you how much it will cost. You can then send them the money, and they will then mail the pin to him. You enclose a self-addressed envelope and ask to be notified as soon as they are ready to mail the pin. You can then explain to him the meaning of its arrival.

I acknowledge that I am a little over my depth in writing about this at all but it is a situation about which I am so often asked that I feel I must answer it with, let me say, an ordinary common sense. About having the pin sent to him—I can't imagine that the jeweler would ever send an emblem of such importance to any one other than its owner.

Versatility Essential to Good Player

BY ELY CULBERTSON

Persistence is not nearly as valuable a quality in bridge as is versatility. The clever player is one who wastes neither time nor effort against unbreakable strength; he finds it much more profitable to ferret out weakness. This is particularly true of defensive tactics. Occasionally, of course, it does pay to hammer away at one suit, but in the majority of cases it is a question of finding the proper shift. In today's hand West, the opening leader, was entirely too dogged.

The bidding:

South West North East

Pass Pass 1 club 1 diam.

2 clubs 2 diam. Pass Pass

2 no trump Pass 3 no trump Pass

Pass Pass

As may easily be seen, the bidding was questionable on the part of at least three players. North had no opening bid to start with and, in fact, the hand should have been passed out. East's overall, even though he had a six card suit, had no particular point, and West's diamond raise on only two diamonds, even though they were the ace-king, was unjustified. South, with almost an opening bid, was correct in taking strong action and his two no trump bid probably was the best at his command despite the fact he had no diamond stopper. North's raise to three was an example of pure optimism.

West's first lead was consistent with his subsequent poor defense. Instead of laying down the diamond king he opened the five of hearts (since he selected a heart he should have led the top of his incomplete sequence), dummy ducked, and East after profound thought, played the jack, clearly tipping off the fact that he held the ace, since otherwise he would have had nothing to think about. Declarer won with the queen and ran off five club tricks. West's discarding on the last three clubs was inconceivably bad; he let go three spades, keeping all of his hearts, since he, too, was convinced that his partner had the ace and he hoped to get in with the diamond honor to lead thru dummy's king. But the declarer had carefully watched the discards and now all he had to do was to lay down the ace of spades, felling West's lone queen, after which the ten of spades forced out East's remaining stopper in the suit. From that point there was no defense. East returned a diamond and West now led the ten of hearts, but dummy simply ducked and the ace had to be played. Thus, declarer stole a game by taking in five clubs, two hearts, one spade, and one diamond.

"Dr. Crane, it seems to me that young people could receive a great deal more from 4 years in college than they are now getting. My sorority pin and social contacts are really extra-curricular activities. My professors don't deserve credit for them.

DIAGNOSIS: Alicia isn't the only person who feels that our liberal arts courses are largely trivial and futile.

I have previously told you that the average liberal arts professor is a tombstone duster or epitaph polisher. He quibbles over minutiae and picaresque details of antiquity but fails to prepare his students for the real problems of life.

Education's primary purpose is to equip us for the more abundant life, meaning a happy, successful stay on this planet during our 60 year average life span.

We marry, rear children, buy and sell, have to win and hold jobs, want to have friends, and enjoy some recreation, including music and reading as well as athletics. Culture is a dry, sterile skeleton if it pertains only to the entombed bones of the ancients.

For my part, I prefer a culture which is vital and alive; which deals with facts and social habits that help me succeed today and tomorrow in my reactions to the environment wherein I live and labor.

Colleges Are Short on Horse Sense

There is far too much theory and too little horse sense being taught our children in colleges. I know from personal experience. So does President Robert Maynard Hutchins, whose views are widely publicized.

So-called professors of economics are filling our children's minds with big ideas about how to run big businesses, when these same professors have never demonstrated their own capacity to operate any business at a profit, even to a popcorn stand or hamburger joint.

College professors of English, who cannot write salable stories themselves are teaching courses in short story writing, wherein our children pay high tuition for learning how to write supposedly salable copy, verse or fiction.

The average college professor has too long hoodwinked American parents with his asinine reverence of antiquity. Men who haven't horse sense and an honorable pedigree of successful practice in their field, certainly are poor stuff from which to select teachers for our children.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

This is a sleek coiffure for the woman who wishes to wear smart hats. It may be combed out softly for evening wear.

About the most welcome news, I can bring women throughout the land is that hair stylists and hat designers have decided to cooperate this spring! So now when you put your head into the hands of a salon-barber you may be assured that he will dress your hair so you will be able to wear the latest bonnets. That is, unless the fellow you choose is so much the individualist that he cannot bear to conform to the agreements of his profession. That will be your hard luck.

Early indications are that spring hats will be small but will hug the shape of the head instead of sitting over one eyebrow as they did last spring. In other words the old skull cap will be the key to new designs. Veils, flowers, feathers and material twists will, of course, create the smartness all women shop for.

That means, your hair will be dressed smoothly over the crown, with curled bangs, or high curls, in front, and a soft neckline. Because summer is approaching you will find short loose curls at the nape of the neck, or long hair twisted up in flat sleek rolls. Girls who want to wear long bobs may do so, providing they are under twenty-five and do not mind being hot around the neck!

Condition of Your Hair
You should want your hair to be in the best condition in spring, for summer's activities and sunning is bound to rob it of beauty and health. And please don't make the mistake of rushing to get a new permanent wave if your hair needs reconditioning. You will be a regretful lass for the next six months if you do.

First of all, weekly reconditioning treatments for one month are in order, daily brushings are necessary and a reshaping of your hair should be done before it is curled and not afterward. If you live in the south and have gone around without a hat, or have swum a lot, your scalp is unusually dry and your hair is likely to be lacking in elasticity. If you live north, the constant wearing of hats, steam heat and lack of sufficient exercise have all conspired to rob your hair of its natural loveliness. So when spring comes determine to bring back the life and beauty of your neglected hair before you get it styled, or before you shop for your Easter bonnet.

Styles for Older Women
One milliner told me that she depends upon the women who are over thirty-five to keep her business alive. "Younger girls like to go without hats, to wear inexpensive models they pick up in department stores, but the woman over thirty-five is hat conscious. For her I design most of my hats, and I find that the sleek coiffures which follow the shape of the head, with fetching sculptured curls clustered where they are needed to flatter the face, are the coiffures which set off hats with a dash. Too youthful hair-dos on the woman past thirty-five, never look smart. They are humorous!"

I shall be glad to help you with your hair problem. Explain it briefly and enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope for my reply.

Our colleges should focus their educational efforts upon the present and future, with but a minimum and cursory examination of the past. "Let the dead bury their dead," said mankind's greatest Teacher, but too many of our college professors are still snooping around the tombs of antiquity. As a result, our college students graduate into life with their tails trained on the future while their headlights are focussed on the highway already traversed long ago by mankind.

CASE P-187: Alicia T., aged 20, is a senior in the university.

"I am soon to graduate," she began, reflectively, "but I wonder if I have received enough good from my college courses to warrant the sacrifices my parents have made to finance my education."

"True, I feel more confident and sophisticated for having found out what a college education is like. I also belong to a sorority. And I have a smattering of facts about history and science."

"But if I were suddenly to be given an examination over the various courses I took last year and the two years previously, I'd flunk miserably."

"Dr. Crane, it seems to me that young people could receive a great deal more from 4 years in college than they are now getting. My sorority pin and social contacts are really extra-curricular activities. My professors don't deserve credit for them."

DIAGNOSIS: Alicia isn't the only person who feels that our liberal arts courses are largely trivial and futile.

Fear Sometimes Can be of Value in Child Training

BY ANGELO PATRI

We say so much about the evil effects of fear upon children that we are in danger of forgetting that there is good in fear.

It is an instinct implanted in the race for its protection. We can use it for the children's good, and we should.

It is right to teach a child to fear fire—fear it enough to keep away from it, to avoid starting it. "Fire will burn you and hurt you dreadfully," is a wholesome idea to set in the mind of a child.

Fear of dirt, actual dirt, that causes illness is another wholesome dread. "Don't handle dirty objects found in the streets. Wash your hands after you come in from play. Wash them always before you eat and remember to keep them away from your mouth, always, for the dirt on them might make you ill." These are good points to teach children and while we would not want to frighten children about illness we would certainly teach them to love health and fear that which might cost its loss.

Often Evil Gifts

Fear those who would lead you to evil. Children need the protection of that fear. "Don't listen to those who want to tell you things they don't want you to tell anybody. Listen to no such secrets. Avoid those who whisper strange words in your ear and giggle. Don't take gifts from strangers. They expect to be paid for them and you cannot pay, save in suffering." That too must be taught to children.

What we are trying to say here is that we must teach a child to FEAR evil and cling to that which is good. There is no sense in trying to hold that the world is perfect because it is not and our children must be forewarned and armed against its evil as well as conditioned for its good. The best way to kill evil is to shun it, keep it far from us, fear it as we would the plague.

Fear to Do Wrong

This is not easy to teach children. As they near the age when this teaching is most needed in practice they begin to feel brave in their own pride. It is mainly to dare evil, womanish and weak to fear to do wrong. "Who's darter" has led more children into trouble than any other slogan known to youth. If we could teach them to stand up bravely and to say, "I'm afraid because it is wrong," we would attain merit in the eyes of society and in the eyes of God.

We have not done enough of this teaching. We should have, day in, day out, have taught the children saying, "Fear to tell a lie; fear to take what is not your own; fear to do what your conscience tells you is wrong, for the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom."

We have been afraid to mention God to them so they do not know He is speaking to them in their voice of authority when their wrong doing brings them to grief. They do not know that when they learn how to live in harmony with His laws they live in a world of love, filled with beauty, brotherhood and peace.

Every failing child is a challenge to us who are placed in position of service to him.

Angelo Patri's booklet, "Your Child and Other People," will be of great help to you in helping your small son or daughter to just to the world. Send for it, enclosing ten cents in coin. Address Angelo Patri, care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 75, Station 0, New York, N. Y.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Pattern 4395 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 3 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Send your order to Appleton Post-Crescent, Pattern Department, 243 West 17th St., New York, N. Y.

and little Susan. They're darlings, Eric."

"I have no doubt," he spoke coldly. "And I also have no doubt you'll insist on bringing them with you. Well," he continued, narrowing his eyes thoughtfully, "I shall try my best to be a decent sort of father to them."

Don't Joke

The implication of this astonishing speech reached her slowly. She withdrew her hand and leaned back in her chair, staring at him.

"If you mean what I think you do, Eric, you're talking nonsense. Bring them with me—to you? Don't joke about it, please."

"Joke?" My darling, I never was farther from joking in my life, I must see you!"

My Neighbor Says—

Dig up a few violet, hepatica or dwarf iris plants that are now in frozen clumps and put them in pots, keeping them in a cool window. You will soon be rewarded with blossoms.

The following makes an excellent substitute for a ring mold. Fill a glass jar with chopped ice, seal and set into a bowl. Pour mixture to be molded around jar. Remove jar when mixture is well frozen.

If chicken prepared for salad is allowed to stand in French dressing for an hour before serving the flavor of the salad is much improved. Before adding mayonnaise at serving time, drain off French dressing.

Fresh vegetables of all kinds are valuable to the growing child because of their rich mineral-salts content. Of these, spinach, chard, carrots, beets, boiled onions or lima beans are good. Lima beans require a great deal of cooking. Starchy vegetables, too, such as potatoes, may be given, boiled, baked or mashed, but never fried. Macaroni and spaghetti may be given sometimes but hot, highly seasoned sauces should not be served with them to a child.

How To Relieve Misery of Your CHEST COLD

Massage throat, chest, and back with plenty of Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. Then spread a thick layer on chest and cover with a warm cloth.

VapoRub's double action brings double relief. It acts as a poultice to penetrate the surface skin; and its soothing medicinal vapors are breathed direct to the irritated air passages.

Try it, to loosen phlegm—to clear air passages—check tendency to cough—and also to relieve the tightness and soreness of chest muscles.

ABBEY SLATS

AND WHEN HE OVERHEARD LINDA FLINT—LAUGHING AT HIM—SAYING "TERRIBLE THINGS ABOUT HIM"—HE COULD JUST SEE HIS HEART BREAKING.

I FELT SO SORRY FOR HIM!! I RUSHED OUT—AND TRIED TO COMFORT HIM—POOR, LONELY SOUL!! ALL HE WANTED WAS COMPANIONSHIP—AND LINDA MADE A FOOL OF HIM.

HE ASKED IF HE MIGHT CALL ON ME TOMORROW NIGHT—JUST TO TALK TO ME. HE SAID HE FELT THAT I MIGHT TAKE THE PLACE OF A DAUGHTER—IN HIS LONELY LIFE OF COURSE, I SAID YES. I PITY HIM SO—

Justice Bureau Says Trust Cases Cut Building Cost

Believes Campaign Also Clears Way to Better Type of Construction

BY W. B. RAGSDALE

Washington.—The justice department figures that the curbing of anti-trust cases which it has laid down against the building industry not only is shelling down the costs of construction but is clearing the way to a better way of building.

An illustration in Pittsburgh before the investigation, the government got a low bid of $150,000 on a project which it had estimated would cost $105,000. It was re-advertised twice while the grand jury was going into action and wound up with a low bid of $118,000.

Bids were called for on three federally-financed low cost housing projects in Pittsburgh. The first, before the grand jury went to work, got a low bid 19 per cent above the government estimate. When re-advertised, the final low was 5 per cent above that estimate.

The second was advertised during a newspaper campaign urging the justice department to investigate Pittsburgh building practices. It got a low bid 8 per cent below the government estimate. The third was advertised after indictments had been returned. The low bid was 19 per cent below the government estimate.

In Pittsburgh, the charges were that electrical contractors were rigging bids on federal projects. Bid rigging and collusive price-fixing through various methods have been charged in several other cities, involving various types of contractors. So far 394 trade associations, corporations, their officials or individual business men have been indicted, along with 106 unions or union officials.

After the price-fixing and collusive obstructions have been removed from the field, department officials say important changes will be made in building methods. Experimental builders are ready with plans to simplify and standardize plans, to build houses of standard parts, to pre-fabricate whole walls and bathroom units, or even halves of houses—so that building becomes just a matter of assembling the parts.

Death Often Lurks Behind Parked Cars, Safety Council Says

An automobile doesn't have to be moving to be dangerous.

Death often lurks behind parked cars, the National Safety Council today warned in a bulletin to Arnold Krueger, county highway commissioner. Motorists were warned in the bulletin to keep a wary eye on cars parked along the curb.

"At any instant a child may dart out from between parked cars, or a jaywalking pedestrian may step into the street," the bulletin stated. "A good driver is alert for such emergencies."

One Is Beloved

assure you. Wait a moment—let's get this thing cleaned up. I love you, Sue. I've never stopped loving you for one single minute. If you need proof of that, here I am, single and heart-whole, save for you. Do—do—love—me!"

She could only sit there in miserable silence, her visible agitation telling him more loudly than words could do what she felt.

"Thank God! Not that I doubted you, darling. Love like yours doesn't alter. We're back where we were when I left you in St. Joseph. But this time, there's no Trenton between us. You're mine now, Sue. I'll marry you."

The voice which had had the power to shake her heart since first she heard it ceased. The lean, almost ascetic face was close to hers. She felt as she had done when, at Susan's birth, it had been necessary to give her other. She had welcomed that other with her senses, glad she found this with all her might.

"Eric, you must be out of your mind. I think. Leave Bob—leave the children! If it was impossible years ago, it's a hundred times more impossible now. She made a movement as though to rise. "There's absolutely no room for me here at all—see that now?"

"Sit down, Sue. I'm not going to abduct you bodily here and now. You're quite safe. And I have a good deal to say to you. I see I didn't take into account what this period of unadulterated domesticity would do to you. My standards are—slightly different, you know."

"They are, indeed, if they include leaving my children for you!" He laughed. "It's nice to hear a touch of your old spirit, darling! But you've misunderstood me. I know you better than to think you'd leave the children. Bring them, bring them! I expect I could grow very fond of your children, Sue."

It was said so simply, without the faintest hint of patronage, that Sue was momentarily disarmed. Eric must be a lonely person, she thought. She wished suddenly that she'd found him married, with children of his own. She told him so.

"Yes, I've wished it too, many times. But there is only one thing I will always be only one woman in the world for me. When can you come to me, Sue?"

She felt a rising tide of mixed amusement and annoyance.

"Eric, you talk like a child. Do you think—even if I were willing to leave him—that Bob would simply and cheerfully give up his children? This is a futile and foolish conversation, my dear. I do beg of you to end it."

"End it?" When nothing has been decided."

Three Compensation Cases Will Be Heard At City Hall Mar. 8

Three workmen's compensation hearings will be conducted in city hall Friday, March 8, by representatives of the state industrial commission. While members of the commission are in Appleton, they will be available for consultations with employers or employees on their rights and duties under the compensation law.

Cases scheduled are: Francis McHugh, versus Kimberly-Clark corporation; John W. Wollenberg versus Witt Auto Supply company; and Theodore Droishagen versus Northern Transportation company.

Workmen Dig Tunnel Under College Avenue

Johnson street was opened to traffic today after being closed several months during the installation of a storm sewer on Durkee street, according to Carson Greene, job superintendent. Pipe has been installed on Durkee street from Washington street to College avenue and workmen now are digging a tunnel under College avenue to make the south connection. The 24-inch storm sewer will relieve flood conditions along the avenue.

BUILDING PERMIT

A permit to remodel his store building was given to George Katsoulas, 107 W. College avenue yesterday by the city building inspector. Cost of the improvement is estimated at $75.

A.E.A. Will Consider Tenure for Teachers

The Appleton Education association council will meet at 4:15 Thursday afternoon at the Morgan school to discuss teacher tenure. The council also will consider a means to create more interest in the National Education association among members of the local chapter. Frank Taylor, president, will preside.

Little Boys' Wash Suits $1.19 to $1.98

For little boys who wear sizes 1 to 64 there are new wash suits as fresh and crisp as springtime. Some of them feature pants of one color and tops of another; others are made in one color only. In white, blue, peach, green and yellow. $1.19 to $1.98.

Military Fashions and "Cash and Carry" Pockets

The big hip pockets called "Cash and Carry" appear on dresses for sevens to fourteens, and so do the military styles with brass or silver buttons. New and smart.

The little girl, whether she wears size 7 to 14 or 1 to 64, is an important person in this spring's fashions. We've never seen such variety in styles, so many attractive fabrics, such charm in designing for children. From pockets to pinafores, little girls' dresses reflect what is new, different, becoming. "Chubby" styles are as gay and new as those for the slimmer, long legged little girl. All the fabrics are perfectly adapted to being washed again and again.

The New Bolero Jacket Frocks Are Smart

You have noticed the importance of boleros in women's and misses' dresses for spring. It is a "Fashion first" for younger girls, too. The little jackets are removable and so are very easy to launder. Very becoming and wearable for all types of girls.

TRU-TONE HOSIERY in the New Spring Colors

TRU-TONE offers an entire hosiery wardrobe for spring — everything for every occasion, from two-thread sheer chiffrons with lace top to four thread chiffrons that are excellent for more sturdy wear. All TRU-TONES are first quality, full-fashioned, ringless. They fit well, they wear well, their colors are chosen to complement the accepted colors for spring costumes.

59¢ 69¢ 79¢ 89¢

The new spring Tru-Tones at 59¢ a pair are three - thread chiffrons that are ringless. They have the stretchy picot top and the picot unstop. They're full fashioned, they're first quality, and they come in the new colors.

At 69¢ a pair TRU-TONE presents a four-thread chiffron hose of good quality. Made with stretchy picot top which allows the leg to expand without wrecking the hose. Reinforced for extra durability. It is clear and ringless like all the Tru-Tone hosiery. They are exceptionally good at this price.

The 79¢ range covers two weights of hose—the three thread and the four thread. The 3 thread is a crepe hose with silk foot and heel. It is splashproof and it has the picot run-stop and tailored top. Clear, sheer, ringless. The four-thread hose is finished with a picot top and is splashproof also. Both weights come in the season's most popular colors.

At 89¢ a pair there is a very sheer crepe chiffron hose — two thread—which is perfectly suited to evening wear. A delicate, very flattering hose with lace top. It is both splashproof and ringless. There is a 3 thread crepe hose, too, with jacquard runstop at 89¢. Serviceable and beautiful.
